3 Barns, Hit By Bolts, Burn In County

DAMAGE RUNS TO THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS

Lightning Strikes Flagpole at Postoffice, Several Homes In City.

.7 INCH OF RAIN FALLS

Mercury Climbs Again Today With Definite Break In Heat Promised Thursday.

In one of the most severe electrical storms to hit the Mansfield area in recent years, three barns were destroyed by fire set by lightning last night and Mansfielders reported bolts which struck in various parts of the city. Damage in the barn fires ran into thousands of dollars.

Breaking shortly before midnight the storm which brought .7 inch of rainfall climaxed a temporary respite in the heat which had gripped the city for four days shattering a five-year heat record and causing one case of prostration at Willard.

The storm came as temperatures plummeted from 95, the reading at noon yesterday, to 67, last night's low. The mercury was climbing toward the 90's again today but a definite break in the heat was promised for tomorrow with two cool masses of air moving in on northern Ohio from the Atlantic coast and from North Dakota and Minnesota.

Two Richland county farmers lost their entire season's harvest when lightning struck their barns shortly before midnight.

The main barn of the Ross Finney farm, 3 miles south of Mansfield, off Cook road, was destroyed when flames swept through the building burning 800 bushels of wheat, eight tons of hay, and 900 bushels of oats. Finney had just threshed the last 500 bushels of the oats and stored them in the barn yesterday.

Aided by neighbors, Finney was able to remove six horses, a bull, and most of his farm machinery from the structure before the flames swept through the building.

Mansfield firemen called to the scene were handicapped by the lack of water. A bucket brigade delivered water to the booster

Scenes as Lightning Fire Razed Barn on Richland Farm

Among the many buildings in the Mansfield area struck by lightning last night in the violent electrical storm which raked the southern part of Richland county was the main barn on the farm of Ross Finney three miles south of Mansfield off Cook road. Destroyed along with the barn was a large quantity of hay and grain as firemen were handicapped by lack of water. Top left, flames outline the barn just before the structure crashed into a blazing heap. Dale Roop, Jr., 99 Lind avenue, took the picture. Other pictures taken by The News-Journal photographer show spectators and firemen at the fire. Top right, firemen work a booster pump as a bucket brigade supplies water from a pump in the farmhouse kitchen. Below left, two spectators take refuge beneath an umbrella while watching the flames. Below right, firemen keep a lookout for stray sparks threatening the farmhouse on the Finney farm.

Mansfield Guardsmen Given Rifles For First Time.

Although the state only allows four pay periods for Ohio State guard drills, Mansfield's Company F held its fifth drill for the month of July last night in the Ashland road armory, drilling without pay.

Capt. Glenn L. Bierly, commander of the unit, said that all members had voted unanimously to hold their regular drill period although the state only called for four.

Rifles were distributed last night and guardsmen drilled with them for the first time and afterwards cleaned them. Enfield rifles, Model 1906, were handed out for drill use.

Following the drill, guardsmen were entertained by members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars post who held a luncheon and entertainment at the armory.

YOUTH FACES CHARGES

COLUMBUS— (AP) —Genevieve Taylor, juvenile referee in the Franklin county domestic relations court, said a hearing will be held Tuesday for nine-year-old Donald Hedrick, Canal Winchester boy who, she said, admitted setting a fire that burned to death his four-year-old half-sister, Mary Lucille Hedrick.

HOPKINS FLIES TO RED CAPITAL

Makes Secret Dash Across Europe To Discuss U. S. Aid With Stalin.

(By United Press)

LONDON—Harry L. Hopkins, President Roosevelt's lend-lease administrator, arrived in Moscow today to discuss American aid with Josef Stalin and other leaders after a dramatic secret airplane flight across war torn Europe.

It was learned that the decision to make the visit was reached only at the last minute, after Hopkins had made plans to return to the United States early this week.

So sudden was the decision that Hopkins was compelled to cancel a series of important engagements here, including one with a royal personage.

It was said authoritatively that Hopkins would see Premier Josef Stalin during the day.

He was expected also to talk to such leaders as Foreign Commissar Viacheslav Molotov and perhaps Maxim Litvinov, Molotov's predecessor.

Actors Flop as Good Will Agents Chilean Declares

Mansfield Visitor Says Better Business Relations Hold Key to Good Neighbor Policy of U. S.

By ELLIS H. SPRUNGER

"Chile and the United States are never going to see eye to eye so long as the United States thinks it's honoring us by sending us actors as good will agents."

That is the assertion of Arturo Crenovich, president of A La Ville de Nice, one of the largest department stores in Santiago, Chile, who is now in Mansfield buying supplies for his store from the Westinghouse.

"We have always felt that we deserved better than an actor like Douglas Fairbanks, jr., for an ambassador of good will. Fairbanks, as I remember it, delivered a speech in what he supposed was Spanish. It is certain that he didn't know what he was saying and, what was worse, we couldn't understand his pronunciation either.

"Westinghouse did much better in its part when Frank A. Merrick, Westinghouse executive, visited us. We had a party for him which the president of the republic attended and he spoke very straight forwardly to the meeting from a business man's standpoint."

Although he believes Chile never will go so far as to allow the United States navy to use its ports as bases unless Japan actually attacks this hemisphere, Crenovich does believe that Pan-American relations will improve.

Start Double Effort to Ease Army Service Extension Bill

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—A double effort began today to impose legislative restrictions on the authority sought by the army to keep troops in service indefinitely during the current emergency.

In the house military committee Republican members sought to have the war department's measure amended so that it would apply only to national guardsmen, reserves and the regular army's enlisted men, exempting selectees who would be mustered out at the completion of their scheduled year's service.

Chairman May (D. Ky.) predicted approval of the bill without such a limitation, and the seven minority members admitted that they had only slim hopes of incorporating their amendment.

In the senate where the bill was down for debate, an opposition group disclosed that it would unite behind the proposal of Senator Taft (R. Ohio) to have a maximum of 18 months service fixed for selectees.

Under existing law, the maximum now is 12 months, not only for selectees but also for guardsmen and reserves.

AAA Chairman Declares Farmers Would Favor Feeding of Excess Wheat.

A bill already approved by the senate and house which would lift the 49-cent penalty on excess wheat fed to livestock and poultry would "go a long way toward reducing the opposition of farmers to the AAA wheat marketing program," Guy L. Taylor, chairman of the Richland county AAA committee, said today.

Taylor said a number of the protesting farmers opposed the government wheat marketing plan because it does not permit them to feed their excess grain on their farms without paying the government penalty. Two farmer organizations have been set up in Richland county to fight the penalty on wheat.

CLEVELAND—(ONS)—City hospital today registered the 20th case of infantile paralysis in this area since July 1, Dr. Harold J. Knapp, Cleveland health commissioner announced.

FDR MESSAGE SEEKS POWER TO FIX PRICES

Calls For Cooperation of Labor and Industry For Wage Limits.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — President Roosevelt, warning that America's defense effort is being jeopardized by the threat of inflation, today asked congress to enact price and rent control legislation, and called for establishment of wage ceilings by co-operation of labor and industry.

The president's message, however, did not recommend that wage ceilings be established by congressional act. He admitted that "there will always be a need for wage adjustments from time to time to rectify inequitable situations."

"But labor as a whole will fare best from a labor policy which recognizes that wages in the defense industries should not substantially exceed the prevailing wage rates in comparable non-defense industries where fair labor policies have been maintained," Mr. Roosevelt said in a special message to congress.

"Already through the efforts of the national defense mediation board and wage stabilization committees wage standards are being established and a measure of wage stability is being brought to particular industries. It is expected that such activities will be continued, extended, and made increasingly effective.

"I recognize that the obligation not to seek an excessive profit in the defense emergency rests with equal force on industry and labor, and that both must assume their responsibilities if we are to avoid inflation."

In asking congress for legislation, Mr. Roosevelt was working in close collaboration with Leon Henderson, chief of the office of price administration and civilian supply. He warned that "inflationary price rises and increases in the cost of living are today

SIGN PACT

Poland and Russia Draft New Territorial Treaty.

LONDON—(AP)—A Polish-Soviet Russian agreement was signed at the British foreign office today.

The agreement grants an amnesty freeing all Polish prisoners in Russia and wipes out territorial changes in Poland resulting from the German-Russian treaties of 1939 partitioning Poland.

It also provides for the formation of a Polish army in Russia under a Polish commander to be subordinate "in an operational sense to the supreme command of the Soviet union, upon which the Polish army will be represented."

Such an army would be recruited from among some 200,000 Polish prisoners of war in Russia.

The agreement is the result of several weeks of negotiation between Soviet Ambassador Ivan Maisky and Polish Premier General Wladislaw Sikorsky.

Patrol Vessel Hit By Raiders At Chungking

Boat Damaged While In Safety Zone On Yangtze River; Nippon Closes American, British Business In Japanese-Occupied China.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON—(UP)—The United States today made formal representations to the Japanese government on the bombing of the gunboat Tutuila near Chungking, China.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—The navy announced today that the United States gunboat Tutuila had been damaged by Japanese bombs in a Japanese air raid on Chungking, Chinese capital. No casualties were reported.

The gunboat was said to have been at anchor across the Yangtze river from the capital.

Several bombs were loosed by the raiders over the river patrol gunboat, a navy spokesman said, and the stern superstructure of the small vessel was damaged slightly.

The navy source stated his belief that the damage to the United States ship was incidental to the general raid on the Chinese capital city, although the vessel was in the so-called safety area across the river.

A small outboard motorboat belonging to the Tutuila was shattered, it was announced, and some other equipment on the dock nearby was reported damaged.

The Tutuila narrowly escaped bombs which fell in the American safety zone in Chungking on June 15, leading to a strong United States protest to Japan. Japanese naval officials said the June bombing in the American zone was unintentional.

Reports to the naval operations bureau on the new incident did not state whether the gunboat, which accommodates a normal crew of 58 officers and men, returned the fire upon the Japanese aircraft.

The Tutuila is a sister vessel of the Panay, which on Dec. 12, 1937, was sunk by Japanese action, with the loss of two lives, on the Yangtze river above Nanking. The 370-ton Tutuila has had an adventuresome career in Chinese waters.

On May 28, 1940, a heavy bomb fell 100 yards away when the Japanese bombed Chungking. Nineteen days later bombs fell so close that Lieut. Robert Germany, her commander, ordered the crew to take to cover. Fragments pelted the craft at that time.

On Oct. 25, 1940, Japanese bombs again rained around the vessel and a huge boulder loosened by the detonations rolled down the river bank and smashed into the Tutuila.

On the June 15 bombing of this year seven bombs dropped within 75 yards of the craft, rocking her

NAZIS NEARER MOSCOW, CLAIM

Germans Declare Troops 130 Miles From Capital; Reds Say Attacks Success.

(By Associated Press)

Adolf Hitler's newspaper asserted today that German troops knifing 100 miles beyond Smolensk had advanced within 130 miles of Moscow, while the Russians declared that the Red army tide was surging west and that the Nazi tank spearheads had been driven back 100 miles from their deepest penetrations.

A war bulletin from "the Fuehrer's headquarters" conceded that Soviet troops were pressing "relief attacks" to rescue trapped forces east of Smolensk, but it asserted that the Red counter-offensive was being crushed with severe losses.

Elsewhere on the bloody 2,000-mile battlefront, the German communique said, "operations continued according to plan."

Other Nazi reports said that on the north front, on the route to Leningrad, two Russian divisions (about 30,000 troops) had been wiped out west of Lake Pieipus, in Estonia.

These reports, describing the Russians as having been cut off from retreat by a Nazi thrust across Estonia, said fierce, close-quarter fighting with grenades and automatic pistols was raging.

Russian dispatches reported "particularly heavy fighting" and heavy German losses in the Smolensk salient, where Red troops were declared to have blasted German infantry from their trenches in a series of counter-attacks.

Soviet officials said the big Ger-

PICKET BARBER

Mansfield Shop Fails To Hike Price to 65c; Union Protests.

The Becker barber shop at 185 Marion avenue was picketed today by the Mansfield Journeyman barber's union for alleged refusal to go along with other shops in the city in price increases.

Officers of both the master barbers and journeyman barbers said Harry H. Becker, proprietor of the shop, had been asked to raise his prices to the level of other barbers in the city but he had refused to comply.

Becker told The News-Journal today that he had "always been a member of the union and charged 50 cents for a haircut, and I believe 65 cents is too much."

He said he had charged 50 cents "as a fair price when some of the other barbers were getting less."

The price of haircuts went to 65 cents and shaves to 35 cents about two months ago.

Life's Going to Be Just 82 Laws More Complex In August

Life is going to be just 82 laws more complex for Mansfielders next month. The Ohio legislature has adjourned and during August most of the 82 new laws will be in effect.

There is no bride-to-be, no dentist, no pharmacist, no lawyer and no milk dealer who will not be affected by the legislation.

Bridal couples will probably feel the new legal mesh more quickly than any of the others. Marriage is going to be more costly. Legislation to combat social diseases requires physical examinations of all couples planning marriage.

At present, marriage licenses cost one dollar. After Aug. 18, licenses and filing fees for medical certificates will be $2. And that's not all. To this must be added the physician's fee which ranges from $3 to $5 depending on how well the couple knows the physician—and of course the fee to the pastor or marrying official.

Two house bills which control and license milk dealers and distributors demand that milk be reman drives toward Leningrad, Moscow and Kiev were stalled, with Soviet armies swinging more and more strongly to the offensive.

DNB, the official German news agency, apparently describing the same Moscow-bound thrust as Hitler's newspaper, said advance German tank units east of Smolensk had cleared the surrounding countryside of Russian soldiers last night.

The tank sweep was made possible, DNB said, by the arrival of a Nazi supply column which beat off violent assaults by Soviet infantry and tanks to reach its goal.

Previous Russian dispatches had pictured German tanks which lunged beyond Smolensk, on the Minsk-to-Moscow highway, as having been cut off.

The Berlin Voelkischer Beobachter, owned by Hitler, said a mighty battle was raging on a 190-mile front pivoting on Smolensk, extending from Mogilev, southwest of Smolensk, to Vyazma, 100 miles east of Smolensk and only 130 miles from Moscow.

Russia's high command again reported "stubborn" all - night fighting in the familiar sectors of Nevel-Smolensk, on the central front, and Zhitomir, on the Ukraine front in the south.

The Red army was pictured by Russians generally, however, as swinging steadily more strongly to the offensive. A Moscow communique reported the Germans pushed back 10 miles in the Ukraine, and a town identified only as "N" was said to have been recaptured in a fierce, two-day battle.

Great Britain voiced a sharp warning to leaders of Japan's expansion policy today "to reflect while there is still time," and simultaneously the Japanese press became increasingly hostile over United States and British activities in the Far East.

Tokyo newspapers bluntly accused the United States of "meddling" in the Orient and blamed this country for the action of the Dutch East Indies in cutting off big supplies of oil to Japan.

Tokyo stock prices wavered, mostly off, although munitions were strong.

In London, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told parliament that it was a matter of regret to the British government that relations with Japan had become strained and that only the future could tell if Japan would keep he pledge to respect the territorial integrity of French Indo-China, now overrun by Japanese troops.

Then, solemnly, Eden declared:

"I sincerely trust that those responsible for the destinies of the Japanese empire will reflect while there is still time whither their present policy is leading them."

In Tokyo, Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye was quoted as warning Japan that it must be "prepared to meet the worst" amid rapidly changing world conditions and that the Russo-German conflict was already "bringing serious effects to Japan."

Konoye declared that Japan needed "swift determined execution of her national policies" and that the government was "determined to proceed on an historic renovation in policies from an entirely new standpoint."

Perhaps significantly, he added that it would be difficult to predict where the flames of the European conflict might spread and that the government was "doing everything within its power to mobilize all resources and manpower for any eventuality."

grow, as they have been for the past few years, he said, the countries will become better acquainted.

Crenovich, who is the third generation of a Russian family that has made its home in Chile, said Nazi party members had been actively conspiring to bring Chile under German influence but that their efforts, for the most part, had failed. President Roosevelt, he said, took a big step toward hindering them when he blacklisted business firms doing business with Germany.

Another point of interest concerning good-neighbor relations Crenovich brought out was the origin of the name "Gringo" which applies to all North Americans and is often taken and given as an insult. According to legend, he said, the first North American to travel extensively in South America used to sing a song the first lines of which went: "Green grows the lilacs." After that, Crenovich explained, South Americans, for the most part not understanding the language, put "green" and "grows" together and named all North Americans "Gringos."

Poor relations with South America for a long time have been the rule and these have been caused largely by poor diplomacy on the part of North American mineral exploiters, the department store executive thought.

He maintains that the exploitation of South America's minerals would not have been possible without North American capital, but North Americans didn't approach the problem properly. For the most part they didn't even learn the language, issuing orders in English and in other ways insulting Latin feelings, Crenovich said.

As an illustration of how other foreign countries do business Crenovich gave this story:

"When I buy 40 yards of cloth from England, I get 41 yards. When I buy 40 yards from Germany, I get exactly 40 yards, no more and no less, but when I buy 40 yards from Japan I get at the most 38 yards."

Another point most North Americans are vague about is South American geography. Most persons, he said, have but a scanty knowledge of just where Chile is. Smilingly he continued, "It's on the west coast of South America, running from about the middle of the continent to the southernmost point."

19 Jap Fishing Boats Seized by U. S.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The seizure of 19 Japanese fishing boats in Hawaiian waters this spring was disclosed today by the treasury department.

Although the vessels were seized by customs agents on charges of false registry, several authoritative officials here alleged that the ships had been employed in espionage work.

Customs officers reported that, at the time of the seizures, no suspicious equipment was found on the craft. Other informed sources, however, asserted that during the period the ships were under investigation, it was established that they had carried expensive radio and photographic equipment.

These sources further alleged that most of the ships involved had at least one member of the Japanese naval reserve in its crew.

The seizures took place between Feb. 28 and March 3, and were apparently unrelated to any of the more recent developments in relations between the United States and Japan.

Six of the seized vessels already have been declared forfeited to the U. S. government.

Vague reports of Japanese naval officers posing as fishermen have been recurrent along the Pacific coast for many years, and it was learned that the seizures this spring culminated several years of work by agents investigating such reports.

The disclosure of the seizures was made in the annual report by Elmer L. Irey, co-ordinator of treasury law enforcement activities. He explained that a 1793 law prohibits anyone but an American from owning an American flag ship. Investigation, he said showed that the real owners of the boats were Japanese citizens.

was closely guarded and it was not made known here that he had left until Moscow flashed that he had arrived, accompanied by Brig. Gen. Joseph T. McNarney and First Lieut. John R. Alison of the United States army air corps.

Hopkins was regarded here as the most important American who ever visited Moscow, and it was said that his mission far eclipsed that of Raymond Robbins, who went to Russia as President Woodrow Wilson's special envoy after the Bolshevik revolution in 1917.

It was expected that Hopkins would be able to reassure the Russian leaders of American determination to support the Soviet Union as an enemy of Nazi Germany.

As the result of his talks here with Prime Minister Winston Churchill and other British leaders, Hopkins was in position to know what United States deliveries Britain is able to forego in Russia's favor.

Moscow was understood to have encountered difficulties in trying to buy arms and munitions in the United States. It was understood that Hopkins in his consultations would attempt to unravel this knot.

Although Hopkins was understood to have gone to Moscow primarily to talk supplies, his arrival coincided with a grave far eastern situation and diplomatic experts would not be surprised if he took occasion to discuss informally mutual United States-Russian interests in East Asia, aimed at keeping peace in the Pacific.

It was not known how long Hopkins would remain in Moscow but it was assumed that he would discuss every aspect of the aid problem, seeking to find exactly what Russia needed from the United States and what forms of aid would be the most practicable in view of the vast distances that separate the United States and Russia, both of which span the distance between the Atlantic and Pacific.

THREE BARNS IN COUNTY BURN AS LIGHTNING HITS

Damage Runs Into Thousands; Bolts Strike In City; Rainfall Heavy.

tank of No. 3's pumper from a kitchen pump in the farmhouse. Firemen used the booster hose and buckets to wet down the farmhouse and outbuildings and prevent spread of flames from hundreds of sparks which littered the tops of the buildings.

Finney discovered the fire after hearing the crack of a lightning bolt as it hit a corner of the building and his dog barking outside the house.

He and other members of the household rushed down to find the barn ablaze. Lightning also cut off telephone service, delaying the arrival of firemen.

Hundreds of Mansfielders and neighbors of Finney crowded around the burning barn, helping firemen in forming a bucket brigade and guarding the other buildings against the flames.

Traffic was jammed on nearby roads as motorists and city residents were attracted to the scene of the fire by reflection of the flames in the sky.

Near Bellville, Harry Taylor lost his entire store of wheat, oats and hay, the last of which had been stored in his main barn yesterday. Two horses and calves and some farm machinery were lost along with the crops.

Volunteer firemen from Bellville, a mile to the southwest, were only able to wet down the farmhouse and outbuildings to prevent the spread of the flames.

Neither Taylor nor Finney could make an estimate of their losses. Both barns were still smouldering this morning.

Another barn was reported destroyed by flames set by a lightning bolt opposite the Prosser service station on the Lexington-Johnsville road.

In the city, lightning struck the flagpole atop the post office, denting the large brass dome topping the pole and splintering the pole. In falling the pole caused a leak in the roof of the building.

Probably hit by the same bolt was an electrical conduit running into the Hamburg Inn, across West Fourth street from the post office. Lightning followed the metal pipe carrying electric wires into the building, burning a hole in the conduit and stripping the wires of insulation.

Lightning also followed wires into to west side homes but caused little damage. Mansfield firemen were called out to extinguish small fires at the homes of A. G. Earnshaw, 691 Stewart lane, and C. E. Beech, 671 Scholl road. In the Beech home, the bolt ran into a radio set, stripping the insulation off the wires and slightly burning a wall. A lamp was burned out in the Earnshaw home.

Among the residents of the city noticing the effects of the lightning was Mrs. Charles Hautzenroder, 109 West Second street, who was surprised to see a stray flash snap out a light in her home.

Rainfall shortly after noon yesterday brought the mercury from its high of 95 degrees down to an average of 81 for the day. Average for the past 16 years was 72.1 degrees.

About .7 inches of rainfall was recorded but was unable to prevent the climb of the mercury today to 90 degrees by noon.

A general break in the week-long wave of record temperatures was expected to accompany a repeat performance of the thunderstorms which cooled the city yesterday.

The weather man predicts generally fair weather with local storms and cooler temperatures arriving late today. Fair and cooler weather is predicted for tomorrow.

The sudden downpour of rain flooded sewers at Carpenter road and Marion avenue. Officials of the Pennsylvania railroad informed Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton today that its office had been flooded during the storm.

The hot spell that besieged some areas in the eastern two-thirds of the nation for nine days caused 305 deaths, 153 by heat prostration and 152 by drowning. Minnesota led in heat deaths with 30; Michigan had the most drownings, 26.

ing quota plan was passed in different forms by the house and senate.

The house bill would allow wheat growers exceeding their acreage allotment to sell up to the normal production of their alloted acreage. A rider was attached by the senate to permit the use of wheat as feed without payment of the penalty.

Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard asked congress to defeat the bill, asserting that the changes it sets up would "make non-compliance with the AAA acreage control measures attractive."

The amendment to permit feeding excess grain was supported by Senators Harold H. Burton and Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

The amendment was more drastic than one suggested by the two Ohio senators and Senator Raymond E. Willis, R., Ind., which would have required farmers feeding their excess grain to livestock to deduct the excess from their 1942 quota allotments.

The adopted amendment will not require any reduction in quotas for future crops.

Burton said he believed the amendment will satisfy Ohio wheat growers who voted against the imposition of marketing quotas and who have held protest meetings in the past six weeks.

Louis J. Tabor, Columbus, master of the National Grange, urged passage of the amendment as a means of settling the controversy and increasing the supply of meat.

The agriculture department already has offered growers three means of escaping the excess penalty. They could store the excess wheat under bond to be sold in a year when no quota penalty is in effect; give it to the government for relief distribution; or plant below their 1942 acreage allotment by an equal amount.

REMOVE SHADE TREES TO WIDEN SECTION OF SHELBY MAIN STREET

SHELBY — Large trees along Main street from Walnut street to Church street today were being cut down by city employes as the city prepared to have that section of the street widened by WPA.

The street was blocked today so that the trees could be removed.

The large shade trees had to be removed before that section of the street could be widened approximately [illegible] side. The widening work has been completed on the south side of the street between the east and west side squares.

WPA labor is completing work on the north side. The section from Church street to the New York Central railroad will be widened as soon as the trees are removed and the work completed on the north section downtown.

Only one other section of Main street, between Wentz avenue and the east side square, will remain to be widened after that work is done.

MANY LIVES ACTIVE

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y.—(INS)—This is a story of the nine lives of Nip—a white kitten at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. Andrew Hall. When Mr. Hall, former city judge, prepared his coal fire for the night last spring, he shut the ash pit door. The next morning Andrew Hall, his son, couldn't find Nip. He hunted all over. Then Mrs. Hall suggested opening the ash pit door. He did. Out staggered Nip, slightly balmy from eight hours in the pit.

A great "canyon" ranging in depth from 500 to about 8,400 feet, has been accurately charted on the floor of the Atlantic a short distance southeast of New York. It is 50 miles wide and 160 miles long.

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, WEDNESDAY, JULY 30, 1941.

There may be no new sins, but trust each generation to discover some variations.

This is the season for family reunions—with desperate efforts to recall which aunt is which uncle's wife.

Now that the odds and ends of aluminum have been gathered up, isn't there some crying need for discarded razor blades?

Fate Has Decreed America's Part

NO NATION that has been attacked by Hitler has been permitted to exercise its own preference for peace. And no nation was adequately prepared for the onslaught of Nazi military force.

Whether Russia took warning in time to develop sufficient strength to eventually turn back the invasion tide is yet to be demonstrated.

There is still opportunity for the United States, and associated nations of the Western Hemisphere, to take defensive measures that will make foreign conquest impossible—but steps in that direction have not yet been sufficiently unified to inspire confidence.

In spite of apparent recognition by the federal administration of the seriousness of the present situation there has been obvious lack of competent direction of the defense program as a whole. The inclination of President Roosevelt to hold supreme power within his own hands instead of delegating authority to competent and experienced men, regardless of partisan bias and personal liking, has seriously hampered progress of defense plans and has added mounting millions to construction and administration costs.

The future of the United States, as to peace or war, cannot be determined by a poll of sentiment or a referendum, but it can be urged and demanded by the people of this country, that the best brains available shall be called into service in making decisions and carrying through the great task in which the nation is now engaged.

It was once said by former President Theodore Roosevelt: "We have no choice, we people of the United States, as to whether or not we shall play a great part in the world. That has been determined for us by fate, by the march of events. We have to play that part. . . . All that we can decide is whether we shall play it well or ill."

Many of the things that are now being said—and many things now being done—contribute to a disunity, and lack of confidence, which is seriously retarding the "all out" effort essential to the preservation of self government and human freedom on this hemisphere.

Legislators Must Make Decisions

FRAMERS of the Constitution, the basic law of the United States, never expected senators and representatives in congress to try to please all their constituents all the time. The theory on which that national legislative body was created was that the people would elect the lawmakers and the lawmakers would then proceed to discuss public issues, pro and con, finally taking such action as seemed best for the whole nation. The decision of the majority in most cases, and of three-fourths of the legislators in certain specific instances, would then become the law of the land.

Today, through political selfishness or cowardice or complete misunderstanding, many senators and representatives have formed the bad habit of trying to pass the buck to the people. That might not be so bad if it were the whole people, but they let their congressional decisions and votes be guided by the group making the most noise or exerting the most pressure. Or, what may be even worse, they fall into a state of inaction because voters express conflicting opinions. If nine constituents are for something, eight are opposed, three are on the fence and five eccentric ones come forward with five different views, what is a poor congressman to do? Nothing, apparently.

But this is not government in the American way. And it represents a threat to democracy as serious as either war or aggression. It means inaction and disunion. Maybe our national legislators need a review course in American history, with special emphasis on civics and government.

Locked Cars Discourage Theft

FREQUENCY with which automobiles have been stolen from Mansfield streets within the past week serves to emphasize the importance of motorists locking their cars, even when they are left parked for only a short time—and also of forming the habit of never leaving keys in a car.

There has been an inclination among some motorists planning an extended trip to worry about the safety of their car, if left parked on a street in some city in another state—but the chances of theft appear to be just as great right here in civilized Mansfield as in any of the less enlightened communities into which they may journey.

How Much Schooling is Enough?

EDUCATORS in the Philippines have been able to temporarily forget the war by means of a big argument over the requirements for an A. B. degree. One group, sponsors of a program called the 6-3-3 plan, wants to cut down formal education to six years in the grades, three in high school and three in college.

Their opponents maintain that this would result in educational standards for the Islands far below those of the United States. Graduates under such a plan, they point out, would not receive recognition in other countries. Their A. B.'s would be of little value.

Commonwealth President Manuel Quezon has wisely referred the question to a special committee of educators for further study. Meanwhile, a ruling of the department of public instruction against any three-year collegiate course stands.

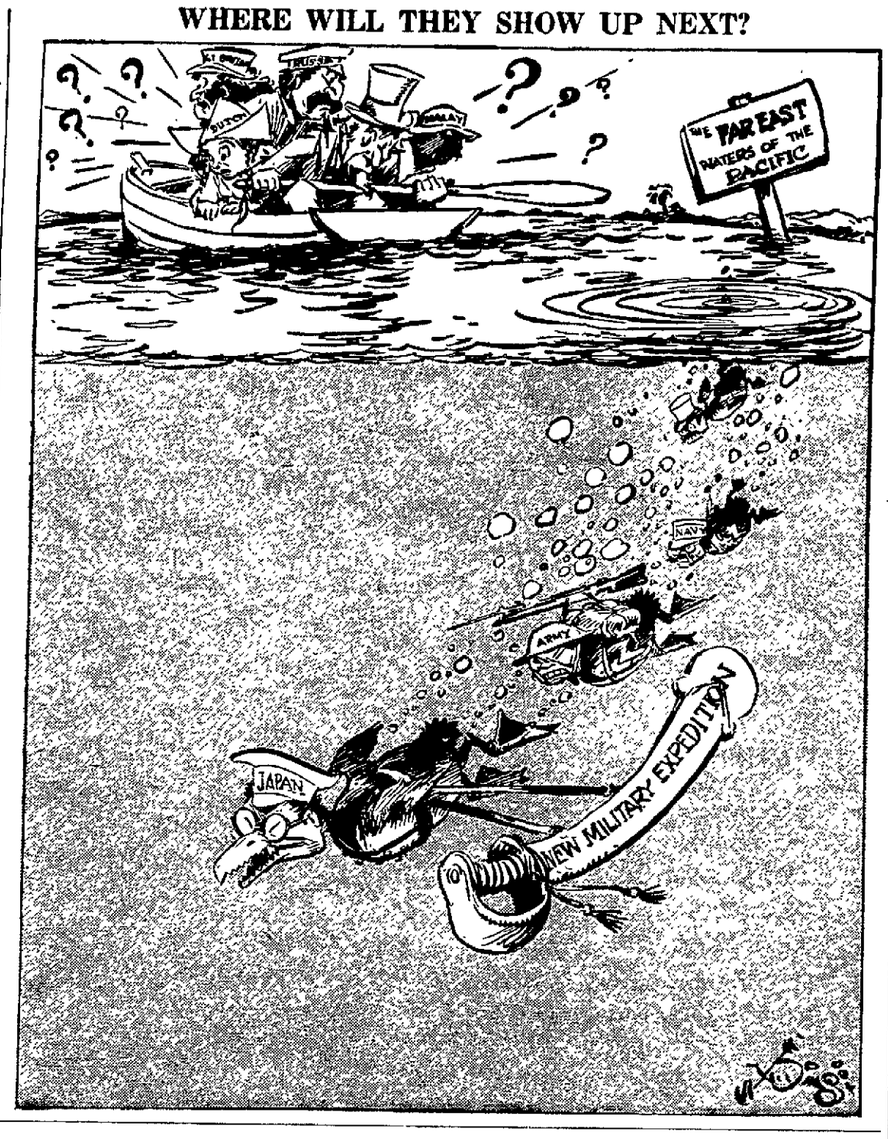
Education has been streamlined in this country in recent years, but not in just this way. The junior college has attained recognition as a useful institution, carrying students beyond high school but not taking them all the way to the college A. B. degree. The Philippine educators may arrive at some such compromise.

It appears that quiz programs on the radio are losing popularity as listeners are beginning to suspect they are intended to be educational.

You can judge the decency of a country by the way the Nazis abuse it.

The only way to save daylight is to use it.

WHERE WILL THEY SHOW UP NEXT?



How Exposed Spy Ring Paid Off

—By JACK STINNETT

(Last of three articles on the spy ring just broken by the F. B. I.)

WASHINGTON — In the transmission of messages, there is undodubtedly none known to modern espionage that the recently overturned spy ring didn't use.

At least a third of the persons in custody are charged with being couriers and it may be assumed that nearly all those 37 persons named as co-conspirators (because they operated almost entirely outside of this country) were involved in the transmission of either information or money.

Axel Wheeler-Hill, identified by federal agents as brother of James Wheeler-Hill, former German American Bund official now serving a penitentiary sentence, already has pleaded guilty to the indictment and, according to the charges, operated the ring's key short wave radio station. From his East 126th street apartment in New York City, short wave messages in code were sent and received it is charged.

The use of micro-photography—that is printing letters, messages, blueprints, etc., on inch-square negatives, which can be read either by use of a magnifying glass or a projection machine—has become almost standard in modern spying.

Imagine how difficult it is to detect such a tiny bit of evidence, sewed into clothing, hidden in the soles or heels or shoes, or slipped between the layers of luggage material covering. In addition to this, according to Hoover, the ring used intricate codes, invisible inks, capsule messages and all such other trivia of outmoded melodrama.

Many Meeting Places.

MEN and women met in the busy whirl of Columbus Circle traffic in New York; in a cafe in the Bronx; suburban Glendale on Long Island; on the beach at Venice, in California; in the refugee melting pot at Lisbon, in Portugal; at a small, unsavory bar in Rio and passed the little squares that can be hidden in a handshake or on the underside of a half-dollar.

As for the payment of cash to espionage agents, only two methods are used—the actual transfer of cash, and the transfer of bank credits through neutral countries. The latter is not easy, but with so many honest refugees working schemes to get their legitimate funds out of war-torn countries today, it is difficult to detect. The transfer of actual cash may be handled in diplomatic pouches or through couriers.

Lilly Stein, the New York artist's model who was said to move occasionally in "society circles," has pleaded guilty. And Hoover says one of the charges against her is that she made a trip to Sweden and brought money and messages from a contact she made in Goteborg.

Else Weustenfeld, 42-year-old stenographer, who worked at the German consulate in New York, has been referred to as the "ring's paymaster."

Think how comparatively simple a matter it would have been for Rene Mezenen, steward on the trans-Atlantic clippers, or Heinrich Claussing, cook on coastwise ships to Brazil, to smuggle in cash as well as messages from Lisbon or Santos.

Works Both Ways.

THAT, then, is how a spy ring works — how this spy ring worked. As to how it is caught—well, by the same methods by which it operates.

Don't think for a minute that FBI agents go joining spy rings. They don't. Spies work for money and the thrill of it. And there are plenty of persons on Uncle Sam's side of the fence who love to do their spying too.

It's a safe bet any time that not all of the "couriers" in this ring were working solely for the ring; that contacts were made where FBI men could be looking on and listening in. I shouldn't be surprised if before this case is over, it would be disclosed that some "contacts" in this case were photographed, possibly even recorded in movies. The methods of spying and counter-spying don't change much—but the instruments certainly improve.

Listen World!

Strain Those Ideas!

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

ARGUMENTS are a dime a dozen these days. We're all worried, bewildered, edgey. Somebody says something. Interesting new idea, probably—but somebody else disagrees. Before you know it, there's a brawl. Everybody's sore. After it's over, you feel silly, disgusted with everything. What's come over the world, anyway? Can't a person discuss an honest opinion without starting a four-alarm riot?

He certainly can, if he knows how to take his "honest opinion" without letting it take him.

David Seabury, in his book, "Help Yourself to Happiness," wrote a passage which hits us all where we live today. Said he:

"Civilized men use antiseptics to destroy germs, filters to purify water, clothes to protect against exposure, gloves to avoid dirt. They even "wash" the air pumped into buildings. Few realize mental health in a congested society requires the same guarding as against the pressure of quarrelsome relatives, neurotic friends. . ."

We must, he explained, learn to protect ourselves by "straining" our experiences as we strain our water and air.

"FORM THE HABIT OF LISTENING WITH YOUR INTELLIGENCE BUT KEEP YOUR EMOTIONS FROM BEING INVOLVED."

That advice is going to surprise some who've never realized that THOUGHTS and EMOTIONS are two entirely different things, and that we can train ourselves to think about anything—even the most painful or irritating things—without letting our feelings sway us in the least. Unfortunately, however, our feelings usually get the bulge early in the game—and keep it. So you emerge from the session wth nothing but a sore head to show for all the fuss.

That's a pity. There's more healthy thinking being done in America these days than in generations . . . more interesting information being dispensed. But it's all useful, for out of it is coming the new world in which we must shortly live.

You need preparation for that world and you can pick up a liberal education just by listening to the talk around you, provided you can listen without raising your blood pressure. But can you?

Can you take this mass of new ideas and "strain" it through.

Take Jim for instance. Jim sees red if you even mention these "Amusement Centers" they're building for the Draftee boys. Yet Jim's a grand person, generous as they come, chockfull of modern ideas. Then why? Here's why. Back in '18 Jim was also a homesick rookie. But were there any beautiful hostesses to wipe away his tears? Any juke boxes to raise his spirits? There were not. Jim and his Buddy spent most of their leisure hours wading around in muck and picking cooties off each other.

"So why," snorts Jim, "should there be all this fuss over the kids today! It'll make sissies of 'em, I tell you—"

Silly and unreasonable? No, typical. That's the way most of us react when a new project is being discussed. We don't listen. We don't reason. Out comes the old smoke screen of emotion—the old resentments and suspicions, peeves and prejudices we've been accumulating for years, which have nothing to do with the issue at hand. And away goes another chance to get a wider slant on things.

What's the answer? The answer is GROW UP! Don't run away from new experience but learn to "strain" it, keeping all that's irrelevant out of the picture—PARTICULARLY YOURSELF!

Panama Canal Closed to Japanese To Prevent Invasion of Markets

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Secretary Stimson was telling the absolute truth when he denied that the discovery of a time-bomb was responsible for keeping ten Japanese ships out of the Panama canal. For this was not the reason.

Real reason why the canal was barred to the Japanese was the discovery that two of their ships were floating bazars being rushed to the east coast of South America to grab off the trade which Axis operators were forced to abandon as a result of the U. S. blacklist.

Apparently the Japs had a tip that the blacklist was going to be issued, because the two ships hastily left the west coast and were waiting to go through the canal, when suddenly the blacklist was published. Equipped with elaborate merchandizing displays, and carrying high-powered, Spanish-speaking salesmen, the ships were literal arsenals of economic warfare. With them, the Japanese would have invaded the most lucrative markets in Latin America before either the U. S. or the Latin Americans could have moved to block them.

Women's Tax Rights.

FRANK ("DOC") CROWTHER, representative of New York, high-ranking GOP member of the house ways and means committee, occupied the center of the stage when house Republicans caucused behind closed doors on the $3,500,000,000 defense tax bill.

However, it was Mrs. Frances P. Bolton, Ohio's charming widow legislator, who stole the show with a firebrand lecture on "Women's rights."

Crowther had just begun explaining the section of the bill requiring husbands and wives to file joint income returns, which he vigorously supported in committee, when Mrs. Bolton, who is just as vigorously opposed, jumped to her feet.

"I would like to ask the gentleman," she inquired tartly, "if any women were called before the ways and means committee, while this bill was being considered, to testify in defense of the American home?"

"The lofty subject to which the lady from Ohio refers was not discussed to my knowledge," grinned Crowther. "No one, man, woman or child, came before the committee and asked to be heard, though we held lengthy hearings and listened to many witnesses on various phases of the tax question.

"Well, if you had given American women a chance to be heard," shot back Mrs. Bolton, "you wouldn't have approved this outrageous joint-returns section. It takes us back to the days of feudalism, when a man was lord and master of the home and his wife was considered little more than a chattel."

Then, waving an admonishing finger at her colleagues, Mrs. Bolton continued: "This part of the tax bill is an invasion of the home. It says that a wife must pool whatever earnings she makes with her husband's income. It does not recognize her as an individual or a wage-earner, but as a subservient chattel.

"Mark my words, the women of this country will rise up if congress writes this attack on their independence into law."

Mrs. Bolton's oratorical effort won a rousing ovation from her male colleagues, but no votes. Joint returns are calculated to bring in over $300,000,000 of additional revenue.

Note: Mrs. Bolton is one of the wealthiest members of congress.

Merry Go Round.

THE PRESIDENT'S recent radio talk was one of the shortest he has ever made. It timed only 15 minutes, 30 seconds. . . . The broadcast was handled entirely by transcription. Each of the three radio networks made a "platter," or a record, and then played the record back for the radio transmission. . . . The president wasted no time when he came into the Oval Room in the White House. "Are you boys all ready?", he said, and launched into the speech without even a voice level.

In the Army Now.

WHILE there will be a lot of noisy breast-beating in the opposition, you can write this down as certain:

1. Congress will approve the retention of the National Guard and selectees in the army.
2. The house will pass the $8,500,000,000 defense tax bill in the form recommended by the ways and means committee.

Under the restricted debate rules of the house, action on army retention will take only a few days. The senate melee will last longer. The isolationist-appeasement bloc will take advantage of the issue to unleash a wide-ranged blitz on the president's foreign policy. Central theme of this attack will be the charge that he is secretly leading the country into war.

However, while the senatorial antis will unlimber their heaviest oratorical guns, their attack will be largely a hit-and-run affair.

Privately they are not prepared to accept the president's challenge to block the legislation. They will denounce him fiercely, but they will very carefully back away from the responsibility of riddling the army. Tip-off on their tactics was Senator Burt Wheeler's conduct during the consideration of the war department's "draft property" bill.

The Montanan clawed it from stem to stern, and then ducked out of the senate and was nowhere around when the far-reaching measure was adopted without even a rollcall.

New Tax Bill.

THE HOUSE will pass the tax bill chiefly because the rank-and-file know little about it and ways and means tax measures are always approved. The process will require about a week.

But in the senate it will be different.

The senate finance committee will subject the bill to a microscopic scrutiny, requiring at least a month. Next the committee will start writing its own bill, which, based on past performances, is certain to differ in important details from the house measure.

Chances are that the tax issue will not reach the senate floor before October; so that Nov. 1 is an early guess for the legislation finally to reach the White House for Roosevelt's signature.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—To a good many citizens hereabouts, the most important purveyor of South American rhythms in this section is Adolfo Roquellas, known more familiarly to the public as Pancho.

Pancho, who seemed for awhile to have been born almost 15 years too soon, rattled his maracas virtually unheeded through the latter years of Prohibition (they were playing jazz then and singing "I'm looking at the world through rose-colored glasses"—remember?) and on through the latter years of the Thirties until, eventually, national thought and the South American way finally pulled abreast of him.

He never played Latin music exclusively, and for this reason he was always able—even if behind a polite grimace—to oblige with a little of "Button Up Your Overcoat" when he would rather have been playing something rhythmic and swivel-hipped about a sloe-eyed Peruvian belle.

I suppose you can get an argument when you claim anything is first, but if any other maestro on the current scene has had more to do with the slow but steady wave of Latin appreciation in popular music in this country, I would like to know his name.

PANCHO is thin and slight with features that even might be called delicate. He was kicked bodily out of his house in Buenos Aires by an irate father who could not share his heir's enthusiasm for life in the dance casinos of Los Estados Unidos.

There are those who claim that you can do all right by yourself if you can build a better mouse-trap, and, in a sense, this is what our outcast did. He built a better tango and won $10,000 in prize money from a steamship company that was launching a new luxury liner and drumming up enthusiasm by a South American-wide tango-composing contest.

Staggering under this bale of folding money, Pancho hurried to New York and organized his own orchestra and soon thereafter was ensconced in the Embassy club, famed during Prohibition, and for a while later, as a place where people loved to spend money.

THAT was a long time ago, and Pancho made the days hum by rippling off scores of rhumbas, waltzes, tangos and other rhythmic lullabies. When he is of a mind, his fiddle is active. He plays "Liebestraum" more satisfactorily to me than any other orchestra. When Veloz and Yolanda gave their great dance concert at Carnegie Hall, it was Pancho who played.

This, in part, is why I say "Pancho" to people who ask for a preference in South American music, and it is the reason, too, on warm summer nights, that I sometimes ride out to Ben Marden's Riviera, where Pancho is playing through the summer, and sit through an evening of his rhythms.

Doris Houck is one New York chorus girl with literary inclinations. Already she has published a book called "Analysis of the Hairy Ape."

The closest thing to a matinee idol in the theater this season seems to be Dick Waring (no kin to Fred), who plays the role of a Welsh coal miner in "The Corn Is Green."

A Farmer's Diary

Bumblebees

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

WHILE mowing, after wheat harvest, I cut through the nest of a swarm of bumblebees. It protruded above the ground just far enough so that the knives of the mower sliced off the top and left exposed the interior of the nest. To get rid of the angry bees, I took a gallon jug half full of water and placed it beside the nest with a long board.

As each bee buzzed by, the resounding echo from the jug seemed to entice him in. In a few hours the entire colony was destroyed. Some of the dead bees were large but many were small. This, I knew, was because of inadequate diet.

Often in April I have observed a large bumblebee househunting. She did not choose the first small crevice she explored, but shopped about for several hours. She was alone—her time was her own—she was particular. I watched while she investigated 22 different locations. She crawled beneath rails, down holes that crabs had made, and dangled in the grass in search of last year's mice nests.

Finally near noon, she found a hole beneath a stick along an old rail fence, and remained for quite a while. I plainly heard the movements of her body, getting the new house ready. Here I determined to watch her "goings-on."

The first two days she gathered pollen and honey and shaped it into a mass the size of a pea. Rudely, yet carefully, I saw where dark gray eggs the size of lettuce seed were buried inside. I found six, close together. There were no cells such as honeybees, wasps or hornets build. The next day the covering for the eggs was thickly coated with pollen. Two days later I saw movements inside and knew the grubs had hatched. They lived in their immediate environment, and kept the outer part intact.

These grubs grew rapidly and spun cup-shaped cocoons, and rested there, heads upward. Whole tiers of these cups were in the nest exposed by accident at harvest time. Some of the lower cups were filled with thick clear honey, and others contained grubs. Some of the cocoons were large, and some were small—depending upon the amount of food available at their time of placing.

The atmosphere of the nest was not inviting. Great numbers of lice were harbored in the nest and the odors were not all of nectar either.

In autumn the queen lays eggs to maintain a certain number of drones, queens and workers. The workers gather nectar to support the new-hatched queens and drones. When the queens have been fertilized, the drones and workers die and are gone from the nest. The queens, sole remnants of the race, seek shelter under logs or leaves, or in crevices of rocks and hibernate.

When spring returns these Amazons awake and start anew to build colonies of bumblebees.

KIDDIES IN THEATER GROUP TO WEAR 17TH CENTURY COSTUMES

Seventeenth century costumes in miniature, designed and made by the Children's Theater classes in connection with the play, "The Magic Melody," to be staged at South park pavilion Friday at 7:45 p. m., were put on display today at the Mansfield Public library.

The children experimented with doll costumes before beginning the wardrobe for the youthful players who will appear in the production, based upon the life of young Mozart. The costumes will be shown on the doll models.

Wigs for the production, and also for "The Mikado," to be staged the second week in August, are being made by Michael Maiyer, salesman for the Ohio Public Service company. Maiyer studied hair-styling in Vienna and Philadelphia and is making 26 wigs for the two performances.

Janey Bushell will play Mozart, while Richard De Sanze appears as Haydn. They will each take a turn at the harpsichord that has been loaned for the occasion by Donald Scott-Morrison.

Mrs. Joy Herbert will also be heard on the harp.

Directed by Harold McCuen the play is in daily rehearsal this week and theater classes are also devoted to preparation for the play.

Gold production in the Canadian Northwest Territories amounted to 21,399 ounces for the first four months of 1941 compared with 16,808 ounces in the same 1940 period.

TALK ON ATHENS GIVEN AT MEET

Mansfielder Addresses Rotary Club Luncheon Session.

Stereopticon pictures supplemented a talk on "Athens, the Birthplace of Democracy," given at Tuesday's Rotary club meeting by Dr. Robert Kinsey, Mansfield young man who has specialized in the study of archaeology.

Pictures shown during the course of Dr. Kinsey's talk were of places of historic interest in ancient Athens, where early experiments in democracy were made more than two thousand years ago.

M. Dale Ward was program chairman of the meeting, at which William C. Mead, club president, presided.

FDR MESSAGE SEEKS POWER TO FIX PRICES

Roosevelt Asks Congress To Give Him Authority To Set Commodity 'Ceilings.'

threatening to undermine our defense effort."

"I am, therefore, recommending to the congress the adoption of measures to deal with this threat," Mr. Roosevelt said.

"Faced now with the prospect of inflationary price advances, legislative action can no longer prudently be postponed. Our national safety demands that we take steps at once to extend, clarify and strengthen the authority of the government to act in the interests of the general welfare."

Specifically, Mr. Roosevelt called for authority extending for the duration of the emergency, to:

1. Establish ceilings for prices and rents.

2. Purchases materials and commodities when necessary, to assure price stability.

3. Deal more extensively with excesses in the field of installment credit.

Although not requested for inclusion in the price control legislation, stabilization of wages was closely integrated in the president's message. Such wage stabilization would be achieved first by voluntary co-operation of labor and capital both accepting the responsibility not to profiteer from the defense emergency. Second, it would be reached by operations of the national defense mediation board and wage stabilization committees, said the president.

"I also recognize that we may expect the wholehearted and voluntary co-operation of labor only when it has been assured a reasonable and stable income in terms of the things money will buy, and equal restraint or sacrifice on the part of all others who participate in the defense program," the president said. "This means not only a reasonable stabilization of prices and the cost of living but the effective taxation of excess profits and purchasing power.

"In this way alone can the nation be protected from the evil consequences of a chaotic struggle for gains which must prove either illusory or unjust, and which must lead to the disaster of unchecked inflation."

Mr. Roosevelt emphasized that congress must give the administration wide powers for price operations. But he emphasized that congress could impose a basic check on such powers by providing that they terminate within a limited time after expiration of the emergency.

"To be effective, such authority must be flexible and subject to exercise through license or regulations under expeditious and workable administrative procedures," he said.

$40,000 CITY'S YEARLY 'TAKE' FROM LICENSES

Alcoholic Drinks Bring Tidy Sum Yearly To Mansfield Operating Revenues.

Whether or not you indulge in alcoholic drinks, it must be admitted that the practice is profitable for Mansfield.

Yesterday the city received $10,770 as its share in the second quarter distribution of the undivided liquor permit fund.

And that's not all. On April 21, Mansfield received another check for $15,615, its share of the first quarter collection.

The city takes in approximately $40,000 annually from this source and spends it for paying salaries, for fire and police protection, for repairing streets and bridges, maintaining parks and public buildings, providing public health measures, paying relief costs and several other services.

Those opposed to drinking may pay their taxes but so do the many persons paying fines for intoxication, drunk driving, disorderly conduct and other violations caused by imbibing.

Of course the latter cost the city a good percentage of the money they pay in fines for police work and record work, but nevertheless, their involuntary contributions go far in swelling the city's coffers.

Other Ohio cities receiving more than $5,000 shares in the $1,759,000 sent out included Lima, $19,205; Hamilton, $20,265; Middletown, $9,905; Springfield, $20,910; Sandusky, $14,975; Lancaster, $8,800; Steubenville, $15,580; Mt. Vernon, $5,050; Ironton, $5,005; Newark, $8,805; Lorain, $17,475; Marion, $6,915; Zanesville, $12,200; Chillicothe, $9,255; Portsmouth, $9,810; Alliance, $5,900; Canton, $36,215; Massillon, $11,635; Warren, $11,635; and Elyria, $7,010.

Cleveland took in $311,425 while Cincinnati received $126,010 and Columbus, $84,355.

A patent has been granted on an automobile door with a peephole near the bottom so that the driver can see how close he is parking to the curb.

Inherits $300,000

Rose Davies, sister of Marion Davies, the movie actress, has been left $300,000 by the will of Edward B. McLean, former newspaper publisher who died in Washington. The will left $5,000 to each of three children.

ISSUE PERMITS FOR 11 HOMES

City Building Continues With Homes Valued at $60,000 Being Planned.

Mansfield's building activity continued strongly today with the issuance at city hall of permits for the construction of eleven new homes at a total value of approximately $60,000.

Laser and Walker, contractors, were issued a permit to construct four five-room houses on East Raleigh avenue at a cost of $5,100 for one and $5,000 for each of the other homes. The new dwellings will be built at 59-62-63-66 East Raleigh avenue.

Fred Schmitt will build two six-room houses, one at 554 Cook road and the other on Oakwood drive, for $5,200 each.

Two more six-room homes will be built at 609 Davis road and 501 Shepard road by E. L. Myers, the first for $8,000 and the latter for $6,000.

R. M. Bushnell has been granted permits to build two four-room homes at 227 and 231 Reform street for $4,000 each. Lloyd Dillon will build a six-room home at 792 Lexington avenue for $6,000.

BRITAIN MOVES TO STAMP OUT FOOD RACKETS

'Black Markets' Offer Rarest Rationed Produce at High Prices.

LONDON—(U.P.)—Former detectives—some of them old Scotland Yard men—have been enrolled by the ministry of food to try to stop the racket of the food "black markets."

At the "black markets," it is possible to buy the rarest rationed food in almost any quantity providing the purchaser can pay the price.

The detectives — G-men of the ministry of food—want to know two things:

Where does the food at the "black markets" come from?

Where does the customer go to get it?

They are faced with difficulties because people who could tell won't. Detectives believe that intending witnesses have been bribed to keep silent.

Wholesalers and retailers all over Britain, but particularly in London, are being watched. Some of them are suspected of sidetracking legitimate supplies to the bootleg market where they can make more profit.

Thus far detectives have uncovered some strange stories.

Farmers have complained to them of "rustling" from their stocks of poultry at night.

A big multiple-store firm signed a contract to buy eggs from a dealer a few miles away at a standard price. They received the first consignment and paid the bill. Next day, another bill arrived from the dealer. It was for $320—and did not specify for what goods or services. There was no attempt to account for it. The firm recognized the bill for what it was—a reminder that toll money should be paid—and curtly refused.

It got no more eggs.

The food inspectors believe these eggs now may be going to the "black markets" whose vendors will pay toll money, charge it to their customers—and still be able to sell, because eggs are so scarce.

The food racketeers are selling every kind of food. But they charge only one price—the highest they believe the traffic will bear.

And there are "black cafes" too. These places sell heavy weight chops and steaks and will serve meals containing three or four rationed foods—for a price.

Always a Singer.

Dorothy Lamour, currently appearing at the Ohio in Bob Hope's comedy, "Caught in the Draft," started her singing career during Uncle Sam's 1918 Liberty Loan drive. She was four years old then and has been singing ever since. Now she's heading a glamour brigade of motion picture stars who will visit and entertain draftees at camp. As the colonel's daughter in Hope's starring vehicle she inspires a rookie towards victory in winning her for himself. Lynne Overman, Eddie Bracken and Clarence Kolb are in the production.

Defense Sabotage.

Saboteurs bent on destroying an island's defense program menace planes flying off the Pacific coast in Richard Arlen's starring picture "Forced Landing," showing at the Madison, Arlen, flying an unarmed commercial transport, falls in the enemy path of a fast pursuit ship and has to rely on ingenuity to get his plane to safety. This dogfight is only one of the thrilling situations in a picture dealing with efforts to rid the sky of aerial fifth columnists in a peaceful nation. Eva Gabor, Nils Asther and J. Carroll Naish are in the cast. "Passage From Hongkong," is the second picture with Lucille Fairbanks and Keith Douglas.

Social Crusade.

"Damaged Goods," showing at the Ritz is a picture version of the famous stage play that sought to inform the public on the tragedies resulting from social diseases along before the current program to eradicate them through frank discussions. Adapted from the French by Upton Sinclair the picture concerns itself with the marriage of a young couple and the fate that hangs over their children. "A Shot in the Dark," by Ricardo Cortez is the companion picture.

European Background.

"So Ends Our Night," a dramatic story played against the colorful background of European capitals, opens Thursday at the Park. Starring Margaret Sullavan, Fredric March and Frances Dee as political refugees who flee oppression when the war starts the picture opens in Paris and takes the principals to Prague and the Alpine passes of Switzerland. Erich Von Stroheim plays the menace and the cast has Glenn Ford, a newcomer, and Anna Sten. John Cromwell directed the picture which is based on Erich Maria Remarque's serial "Flotsam." The "Three Mesquiteers" are featured in "Under Texas Skies," co-attraction.

GEN. JOHNSON:

By GEN. HUGH S. JOHNSON

NEW YORK—This is a column about three guys—very important guys just now. If it is gaga and sentimental it has no business to be. Within the hour I have enough close personal experience with these men to write about them at first-hand and not on remote control. They are Fiorello La Guardia and Bob Moses—and I couple them for a good reason—and Douglas MacArthur who has just been appointed had two teeth out. But I have our military pro-consul in the Orient.

With these gents I have both tangled and embraced — agreed and disagreed, cuddled like kittens and fought like cats. But, whether it was a fight or a frolic, I always come away with a wholesome respect for their ability, courage and value as American leaders.

Let me speak first of. MacArthur. He was my classmate at West Point in the days when the academy was so small that classmates knew each other better that brothers — a circumstance which decided many campaigns of the Civil war because opposing West Point commanders knew each other so well, or their staff officers did, that each commander knew what the other would do in a given set of circumstances because he was so well aware of his character.

MacArthur was the perfect choice for the Orient. Like his father, before him, he is almost too brave for high command There is no room here to tell of his exploits—which are those of a D'Artagnon. He can't resist going over the top with his men.

As an ex-chief of staff, he knows the Oriental and especially the Philippine problem better than any other officer. As an intimate of "Casey" Quezon he knows the Philippine problem better. And he is brilliant—almost beyond belief. A little spectacular and theatrical perhaps, but that is a detail. The Philippine army is his own creation. You couldn't have sifted the whole army and made a better selection than the president's.

Apart from wise fiscal management, utter cleanliness in politics, proved courage of an extraordinary degree, unexampled effort and complete contempt for his own financial interests, it is trite to say that Fiorello La Guardia is the best mayor New York ever had.

New Yorkers probably do not realize as emphatically as familiars revisiting the city at intervals what has been done to better it but you can't drive all around it as I have done after a considerable absence and not simply marvel at what, to me at least, seems a literal miracle in municipal improvement.

For the actual work, of course, my other sometime opponent, Bob Moses, deserves the unlimited praise and respect that he seems justly to be getting. But Fiorello supported him regardless of politics and, above all, got the dough out of the federal kitty to do it. That has sometimes been criticized because the little flower's dough-getting accomplishments have not been equalled elsewhere in the United States. But people who say that frequently forget that New York contributes an even larger "put" in taxes than the ratio she "takes" out of the colossal federal jack-pot.

If he didn't insist on a proportionate share in return, Mr. La Guardia would be failing on his job.

Maybe the latter part of this column may seem to have a local aspect too narrow for a column of national circulation. I think not. Mr. La Guardia is up for re-election. In the second or third most important job in the United States he has written a record of faithful and efficient public service which is an example for the world. It is of immediate and intense national interest that such service should be recognized and rewarded. I would as soon think complacently of General Motors firing Alfred Sloan, as of the rejection by New York City of the most valuable public servant in recent political history.

AFL Strike Snags Work At Navy Yards

CLAIM GERMANS OPERATE FROM FRENCH GUIANA

Administration Charges Nazis Use Country as Base For Undercover Activities.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—United States denunciation of Axis interference with Latin American affairs was based upon reports that Germany is using French Guiana as a base for undercover activities on the western hemisphere, informed sources said today.

The reports of intense Axis operations in Latin America have been revealed to congressional leaders in connection with the administration's proposal to extend the military service of selectees. National Guardsmen, and reservists.

Germany, presumably with the knowledge, if not the consent, of the Vichy government, has sent both trained agents and resources into virtually all of the South American republics by way of the French possession on the continent, according to the reports.

Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles told his press conference yesterday that recent events have "emphasized the correctness of the charge that the totalitarian powers are striving to disturb the peace of this hemisphere and to extend their disruptive control over the affairs of the American republics."

Welles previously has indicated his belief that Axis agents inspired the new outbreak of border hostilities between Peru and Ecuador.

Meanwhile, Chairman Martin Dies, D., Tex., of the house committee investigating un-American activities, charged that Germany has cached vast stores of arms and ammunition and has approximately 1,000,000 trained men in Latin America.

"If various Latin American governments will conduct a thorough search," he said, "they will find these arms and ammunition hidden in vast quantities. I have received this information from time to time from a number of different sources."

Dies said that he has sought to determine the actual number of trained Nazi fighters in the Latin American countries, but has been unable to do so.

The U. S. blacklist of 1,800 Axis-controlled firms operating in South America was described by Welles as "but another step in blocking the efforts of those who have sinister designs on the Americas."

Up and Down the Street

Although Plymouth over-subscribed its quota in the United Service Organization drive, closed two weeks ago, additional contributions amounting to $17.90 reached the local chairman, Mrs. Tracy Brown. This amount was turned over today to Mrs. John Pierce, who had charge of house to house solicitation workers, and placed in the treasury of the Richland county organization. The contribution raised Plymouth's total from $152.26 to $170.16.

Workers in the office of the water, sewer and garbage departments are taking heavy ribbing from friends in the Municipal building. Metal gratings were placed in front of the office collection windows yesterday leaving the workers wide open for remarks about the resemblance to a zoo. Fred C. Lingafelter, secretary, explained that the gratings were put up to keep out vandals who regularly ransacked the office over weekends.

Most of us have the ambition to ride a fire truck to a fire and Patty Bancroft thought she was about to realize that ambition yesterday afternoon.

Patty didn't quite succeed, however because she rode in Chief Seeburger's auto instead of a fire engine and the fire was only an overheated stove in the model kitchen department of Westinghouse.

Probate Judge Stuart H. Cramer could have used an airplane to good advantage today, but he had to make his automobile do instead. With his daughter, Ellen, he left on a 700-mile trip to Ames, Ia., and planned to be back in Mansfield by Saturday. He will bring his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Howe, home with him for a visit.

ELECTRICIANS QUIT WORK ON DRYDOCK JOB

Part of 8,000 In New York Called Out By Union In Labor Dispute.

(By Associated Press)

A strike of 8,000 AFL electrical workers in New York City went into a second day today with its effects reaching into the Brooklyn navy yard, and the national defense mediation board announced the end of stoppages at the Gulf State Utility company, Baton Rouge, La., and at Air Associates, Inc., at Bendix, N. J.

At St. Louis, Mo., where 2,700 AFL construction workers walked off the site of an $89,000,000 ammunition plant in protest to the discharge of two ice haulers, the strikers agreed to go back to work and submit the discharge of the two to arbitration.

Four federal agencies — the navy, office of production management, U. S. conciliation service and national defense mediation board—attempted to bring about a settlement of the New York electricians' strike. Rear Admiral E. J. Marquart, commandant of the Brooklyn navy yard, declared 200 skilled electricians had walked off projects in the yard, including work on drydocks in which two superbattleships are to be built.

The union called the strike, effective yesterday morning, as a result of a long dispute between the electricians and the Consolidated Edison company, power and light distributors. The company had turned down a union demand for employment of 600 AFL electricians on a plant construction job.

In Columbus Harry Mayfield, president of Local No. 2173 of the Steel Workers organizing committee (CIO), said a strike deadline had been set for 4 p. m. today at the Timken Roller Bearing company plant here unless mediators settled a dispute arising over dismissal of five women employes.

Conciliator Hugh D. Friel was asked by the labor department yesterday to investigate the dispute, while Ward Wolcott, subregional director for the SWOC, said he had sought aid from the federal mediation board. He contended that negotiations between the union and company were deadlocked.

"I am hopeful that something will be worked out today so that there will be no strike," Mayfield said.

Wolcott said the women were discharged because their work baskets contained pieces belonging properly to other departments.

Eight hundred AFL laborers, whose strike tied up work on $2,000,000 worth of naval construction at Key West, Fla., expressed their willingness to return to work today, provided contractors release 150 newly-hired negroes. Whether this condition would be accepted appeared doubtful. The strikers approved a compromise wage offer which would increase their earnings from $19 20 to $26 a week.

Conferences were slated in Washington tomorrow between federal conciliators and the management and employes of the U. S. Gypsum company, looking toward settlement of a strike of 3,000 employes at 17 scattered points. The union wants a contract covering all the plants, an increase of 10 cents in wages now ranging from 42½ to 62½ cents an hour, an arbitration system for settlement of grievances, and other concessions.

The union said a work stoppage occurred yesterday in five departments of the Genoa, O., plant and that additional stoppages to tie up the factory had been ordered.

In Genoa, however, Plant Manager J. C. Downey said the factory still was operating and that he had received no notice of the Washington conference. He said the firm's plant at Gypsum, O., is not operating.

At Ottawa charges of "enemy sabotage" and promises of arrests emanated from government quarters as the vast Arvida, Que., plant of the Aluminum Company of Canada resumed operations today after a five-day strike characterized officially as a severe setback to production.

While troops stood guard as a precautionary measure, Munitions Minister C. D. Howe launched an investigation into the situation, which began last Thursday when 300 of the 5,000 employes seized control of the plant.

Howe termed the shutdown a "suspected case of enemy sabotage" and declared arrests "definitely will be made."

OPTIONS LAND FOR NEW FARMS

State Purchases 19,500 Acres For Rural Families; Part In Crawford County.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—The Ohio Defense Relocation corporation announced today that 8,750 acres of land now under option in six northern Ohio counties would be purchased and divided into farms to provide homesteads for rural families whose own lands have been condemned for defense purposes.

A. L. Sorenson, vice chairman of the corporation and state rural rehabilitation director for the farm security administration, said the land is part of 19,500 acres under option in Crawford, Union, Hardin, Logan, Marion and Portage counties. It will be divided into "family size" farms, each equipped with its own set of buildings.

An estimated 440 families have been forced from their farms to make way for ordnance plants in Ohio, including the huge shell-loading and powder factories at Ravenna and Sandusky, Sorenson said.

The relocation corporation has borrowed $1,001,000 from the farm security administration to buy and develop the land.

Some displaced farmers already have managed to obtain new property elsewhere, he said, but generally it is necessary to supply land for the families.

The corporation will loan funds to families unable to finance moving, and additional money will be advanced for operating expenses, Sorenson said.

WHEELER ACCEPTS STIMSON'S APOLOGY ON TREASON CHARGE

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—Sen. Burton K. Wheeler, D., Mont., accepted today the apology of Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson, who said that he had erred in accusing the non-interventionists of intentionally circulating soldiers with post cards opposing war.

"It was a very decent thing for him to do." Wheeler said of Stimson's public acknowledgement of his error.

Stimson had charged at a recent press conference that Wheeler's use of the senatorial frank to send the post cards to soldiers was "very near the line of subversive activities—if not treason." Wheeler replied in a senate speech Monday, asserting that the charges were a "badge of honor."

Wheeler told reporters that he had mailed approximately 1,000,000 cards, without any intention of selecting soldiers as the recipients.

Meanwhile, it was understood that Secretary of Navy Frank Knox also had expressed regret to Wheeler over an incident in which an unnamed admiral was said to have denied Wheeler's son, Richard Burton, a naval commission because the young man said he agreed with his father's non-interventionist views.

Chairman David I. Walsh, D., Mass., of the senate naval affairs committee, brought the incident to the attention of the senate this week.

Knox, it was said, met Wheeler on a golf course and told the senator that he had been informed of the admiral's action and that young Wheeler's commission would be arranged

PICK UP YOUTH

Franklin County Authorities Get Boy Who Took Truck.

Franklin county juvenile authorities had returned a 17-year-old youth to the probation of a Columbus court today following his attempt to flee in a government truck from the NYA training school at Mifflin lake where he was a pupil.

Apprehended early Monday by Sheriff Frank E. Robinson and Deputy C. C. Gongwer, after a chase through eastern Richland county, the boy was held in the county jail for Franklin county authorities.

The youth, who told the sheriff he had intended to drive to his home in Columbus, was captured near Mifflin after he had driven nearly to Mansfield and then back-tracked in an attempt to elude the officers.

Ohioans Held In Connection With Death of Girl

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. —(U.P.)— Two Columbus, O., men who convinced the court they were innocent of murder faced other charges today in connection with the death of Virginia White, 19, West Terre Haute.

William R. Atkinson, 22, and Victor Smith, 24, told Justice of the Peace Perry Douglas yesterday that the girl whom police believed had been murdered was injured fatally when she leaped from their car on June 25.

Douglas dismissed first degree murder charges, but the men were re-arrested on charges of leaving the scene of an accident and failing to give assistance. They were placed under $3,000 bond each and bound over to the September grand jury.

The girl was found unconscious on a road near Terre Haute. She died the next day without regaining consciousness.

RUBBER YIELD ON TEST BASIS IN CALIFORNIA

Guayule Plant Output Boosted To 10,000 Pounds Daily.

SALINAS, Cal.—(U.P.)—Production of rubber from the guayule plant grown in Salinas valley is set at 10,000 pounds daily now.

The experiment is directed by the American Rubber Producers, Inc., and the output is utilized by four major tire manufacturers. Experiments with the guayule plant in California date to 1912.

The plant grows wild in Mexico and reference to its elastic content are found in the writings of the early Spanish conquerors. As early as 1876 an exhibit was held at the Centennial Exposition in Philadelphia.

The scene of the experiment near here consists of 125 acres of land for growing purposes, and a $2,000,000 plant for processing.

The guayale (pronounced "wy-oo-la") can be grown on marginal land and it has been ascertained that the soil in which it flourishes best abounds in California, and several southwestern states.

Although the Department of Agriculture has paid little attention to the production of rubber from this plant, pre-war Italy planned to meet its entire rubber needs from this source. In warehouses here, the company revealed, are 105 large drums of guayule seed which the Italian government ordered just before the war.

The four American tire companies which are interested in the project, have been using the 10,000 pound daily output as a mixer and sealer because of its adhesive qualities but it nevertheless constitutes the only pure commercial rubber being produced in the United States.

The greatest obstacle that stands in the way of its immediately supplanting the Sumatra, Ceylon, Java, Borneo and Malayan sources of rubber is the cost of production.

The present cost of the Salinas plant is about 13 cents a pound and the rubber is sold to manufacturers at about 20 cents a pound. In the past rubber from other sources has slumped to as low as 3 cents a pound.

Backers of the project here, however, are confident that with government subsidization, the cost of production could be lowered to a point where the United States would have an adequate domestic source in an emergency.

Among graduates of Pratt Institute's engineering school this year is Miss Isabelle Saurez, first woman to receive an engineering degree from the institution since 1898.

GERMANY CITED FOR THOROUGH CRAFT SYSTEM

United States Urged To Set Up Apprenticeship Plan In Key Industries.

MADISON, Wis. —(U.P.)— America's defense program must include a nationally recognized apprenticeship system similar to the one established in Germany after the World War, according to George P. Hambrecht, director of vocational and adult education in Wisconsin.

"To insure future skilled craftsmen for defense, we must give our youth opportunity to become skilled craftsmen within defense industries," he said. "This may be accomplished by requiring all defense industries to maintain an apprenticeship system as a condition of production."

Three years after the World War, Hambrecht traveled in Europe, inspecting Germany's system of training skilled workmen — mechanics, technicians, watchmakers, lensmakers and machinists. He was convinced that America, too, could train its own men and upon his return started Wisconsin on the way to national leadership in vocational training.

Germany's training system included not only schooling, but actual apprenticeship experience.

"Experience has shown," Hambrecht said, "that the only real way of guaranteeing our youth that they may become expert and skilled in the trade of their choice is through a well-organized apprenticeship system."

The Wisconsin vocational director outlined the following recommendations for operation of a program to train skilled workers for defense jobs:

1—Continuance of "refresher" courses for Work Projects Administration workers and unemployed adults who have a mechanical background which needs polishing.

2—Continuance of supplementary vocational courses for all industrial workers who wish to improve their skill while continuing to work.

3—Continuance and expansion of a vocational program for National Youth Administration workers.

4—Giving farmers a chance to improve themselves "to the end that production may meet the needs of consumption as the defense program becomes more and more important to America.

5—A distributive education program to facilitate handling of fabricated defense products.

6—A homemaking program to assist those who remain at home while husbands and fathers are in the army.

7—An intensive education program to instill into defense workers and others the importance of American ideals.

HARD LUCK YOUNGSTER

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y.—(INS)—When 12-year-old Hal Dunham broke his right arm last August, that was tough luck. Dr. Richard E. Bullard fixed it up, however, and it healed. When he broke it again some weeks later, it was a bit tougher. It healed again, however. It seemed like the last straw when it snapped again, several weeks ago. Dr. Bullard again put in a cast. But that wasn't all. A few days later the boy fell breaking the left arm! Now that is in a sling and cast, too.

Don't Forget Your Gloves

By AMY PORTER
(AP Fashion Editor)

It's easy to say, "I'd rather be comfortable than smart," when the temperature goes up and up and up.

But there's no excuse for it. Stores forestall comfort-at-any-cost arguments with fresh mid-summer notions which are both cooling and smart.

Consider gloves, for instance. Once a woman was justified in discarding gloves for a heat wave. But no more. There's nothing hot about the infinite variety of open mesh, sheer, ventilated gloves you can find this summer. And how much better dressed you look, wearing them!

Brown-an-white checked gingham mits couldn't be hot, could they? And think what they do for a plain white dress. Add a little brown-checked gingham parasol and your costume is sweet, complete, and noticeable for chic.

Have you seen the chintz gloves matched up to citified chintz sunbonnets? They make these sets in pique, too. The sunbonnets are part of a group of Bucks County designs adapted from Pennsylvania Dutch costumes.

For sports, there are those nice string gloves in any color you like, and heavy mesh fabrics, often combined with washable leather.

Handbags, too, are developed in all sorts of cool-looking washable fabrics. Or, if you are opposed to the labor of upkeep, choose a straw bag that can be wiped off with a damp cloth.

Airy black net gloves are a real asset to dressy costumes. They tie in nicely with open-weave black pumps and big-brimmed hats of sheer black.

Try all-black accessories with a white dress—much more striking than white with white. And when you wear brown and white spectator sports pumps, wear wrist-length brown gloves instead of white ones, and a big brown straw hat.

Probably you've acquired a city-country cotton by now—one of those trim cotton suits in chambray or fine plaid seersucker. Wear it without accessories when you're country week-ending, if you like, but in the city, do it justice with correct accessories.

Complete costumes are smartest—and they can't be complete without accessories. This girl's blazer-striped jacket, in brown, orange, and beige, is more effective because of her gloves and hat. Hat of white felt, banded in brown. The washable brown and white gloves of durene mesh with leather palms were designed by Merry Hull.

Two-Piece Frock Is New Fashion Note For Fall

The two-piece dress, or at least the "two-piece look" is a prophetic fashion note, stressed in the early Fall collections of New York dress manufacturers — and a popular one, according to Mrs. Dorothy W. Anderson, executive director of the New York Dress Institute.

From age 16 to age 66, women love this type of dress. It is easily adaptable to all figures. It is flattering, too, and youthful.

There are many versions of the two-piece dress this season and they are nicely tailored and boast fine detailing. They come in combinations of wool and velvet and other fabrics. Ofter colors are combined very effectively, with skirt of one tone and blouse of another. Many ribbed corduroys and velveteens are shown in the two-piece dress.

They feature a variety of necklines, the new smooth shoulder line, dolman, kimona and bishop sleeves. They are designed for all occasions from the simpler office or classroom type to the dressier afternoon and often evening costume.

The "two-piece look" is achieved in the majority of cases through either a tunic, or peplum. One or the other appears on practically every important dress this season and there is a tunic, or peplum, to suit every type of figure from short to tall.

The gathered fullness of one peplum is good for a figure with full hips, but it requires a slender torso. Another peplum recommended for full hips has a deep back and rippled fullness. A deeper, moderately flared type finishing a long fitted torso is good for young and older women alike. Then there is a double, peg-top type of peplum that is becoming to the smaller figure. A favored version of tunic for slim figures is with deep-dippling back and easy long and tubular. Most wearable tunic of all, however, is the one graceful flare.

Jebel Ed Druz, the Syrian state, had a much greater population in Roman days than now.

FOUR ENTERTAIN FOR MRS. HARVIE WILLSEY

Office Associates Give Bridge Party and Crystal Shower Tuesday Evening at Women's Club for Recent Bride.

FOUR office associates of Mrs. Harvie Willsey, nee Grace Ladd, a recent bride, entertained for her pleasure last evening at the Women's Club. Hostesses were Mrs. C. K. Dye, Miss Ada Steward, Miss Emma Witchey and Miss Ruby Boyer. Bridge was the diversion of the evening at six tables with score prizes being presented to Mrs. William Enlow and Miss Lucille Baker, who gave them to the honoree.

R. H. Sotherland, assistant purchasing agent at the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company, where Mrs. Willsey is employed, had written a clever poem, which was used to direct her to her shower of crystal gifts. The hostesses gave her a lovely pottery centerpiece.

When refreshments were served the guests were seated at a large T-shaped table decorated with a pretty arrangement of garden flowers and lighted tapers.

Tonight at Johns park Mrs. William Enlow, Mrs. Earl Brandenburg and Miss Ethel Heuss will be hostesses for a picnic supper in honor of Mrs. Willsey. Tomorrow evening members of the Chi Sigma sorority will entertain for her.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

STEPHEN REDFIELD has aplomb "to spare," but it vanished abruptly as I opened the door to him, and he saw Mary and Philip Veritzen standing behind me.

"Why! Why! I thought—" he fairly babbled, but Mary's casual greeting interrupted him.

" 'Lo, Steve!" she caroled. "Fancy meeting you here! I thought you'd gone home long ago. What's the racket, anyway? Getting Aunt Madge to give you an extra private rehearsal?"

"Yes, I am." He caught her cue deftly and acted upon it.

"Are you ready to go now, Mary?"

Philip Veritzen's voice, remote, chilly, interrupted his young daughter-in-law's raillery. He had spoken no word except a formal "Good evening, Redfield." when the actor had first entered the room.

"Yes, Dad, whenever you are," she answered.

"Then let us go," he said, and bent formally over my hand.

"Good night, dear lady," he said. "Sleep well. Good night, Redfield. Do not keep Mrs. Graham up too long. She is very tired."

"I shall take only a few minutes of her time, sir," Redfield assured him earnestly, and Philip Veritzen opened the door and held it, waiting for Mary to pass through.

But Mary patently was determined to carry out every detail of the suggestions I had made. She kept her father-in-law waiting while she gave me an affectionate pat on the shoulder and said carelessly·

"It's only au revoir for me, dearest. You know, I'm spending the night here. I'll be back in—say 20 minutes. Will that give you time to unburden your artistic soul, Steve?"

Redfield Is Malevolent.

"Oh, I shouldn't dream of troubling Mrs. Graham longer than that," Redfield replied.

"See that you don't!" Mary retorted impishly. Then they were gone, and Stephen Redfield was staring down at me with bewilderment and something else—a malevolence which he could not wholly mask—in his eyes.

"I thought you said I could see you alone, Mrs. Graham," he said softly, but I felt that I would rather have heard a bellow from some average angry man.

"You are seeing me alone," I said a bit frigidly. "Will you please sit down, and tell me as rapidly as possible what you have come to say? I am sure I need not remind you that I am an extremely busy woman."

My instinct told me something else, when I saw uncertainty come into his eyes, and I knew that my words—and, more especially, my manner—had materially deflated his ego. I would not have been so successful in dealing with him had he not faced the knowledge that Philip Veritzen, in whose hands his stage career lay, knew of his request to see me.

He sat down in the chair I had indicated, and when he spoke, the malevolence in his voice had changed to something resembling a whine.

"Do you think it was fair, Mrs. Graham," he said reproachfully, "to tell Mr. Veritzen I had asked to see you?"

New Defense Council Adds Life to Home

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Certainly it was not an urge for bigger and better activities that made Mrs. Roosevelt sign up for the District Defense Council for Civil Protection. She had told her press conference the day before that she intended to be one of the District's 35,000 volunteers, assigned to tasks for home defense.

To many women all over these United States this signing up for a defense council—or whatever the different cities may choose to call making ready for active service—such a call will come as a Godsend.

Thousands of women, unless they are successful in careers of their own making, suffer from intolerable boredom and pass it on to the home—and they are not lazy women, either.

They go through the prescribed routine of housekeeping, getting the children off to school, seeing that they do their homework or practicing, then a dab of powder on the nose for the husband's home-coming, and an occasional afternoon or evening out. This routine, day after day, is endured with not exactly torpor but without any exuberance.

Lack of excitement in the domestic round not infrequently makes a family row actually welcome. As a woman wrote me lately.

"We love each other, of course; but every day is so like every other day that a good argument with the usual reconciliation is something to be hoped for."

If you happen to be old enough to remember, you will recall the ardor with which women took to the various forms of activities in the last war, and dressed for the part; the nurse's uniform suggesting womanliness; the smart turnout of the ambulance driver, high polished boots, fetching side-worn cap; the yoemanette, in her flapping cape. All these costumes rated a second glance What will the designers create in the way of service costumes this time?

The stimulus and amusing talk which goes with any new activities started me to put the question, Why do so many women permit their marriages to slide into the doldrums? Why can't they put more pep in the honorable estate? Why does it take a World War to wake them up and be interesting? Perhaps the Home Defense Council may be able to inject more interest around the family dinner table.

The cause of the intolerable dullness in so many married lives is that the wife is so steeped in housekeeping and child-tending that she has seldom a spark to contribute to the evening meal. So perhaps this Home Defense Council, now getting under way all over the country, may prove to be a defense in the domestic sense. Women who sign up to cook, knit, sew, type, may find their minds so refreshed by new activities that they really have something amusing to say when the tired business man gets home.

"The other woman," to whom so much home wrecking is ascribed, is seldom beautiful, but more often than not she's amusing. Bored with the monotony of his own fireside, father is open to laughs. Hence the tete-a-tete luncheon we so frequently witness in the downtown restaurants, father hanging on the words of his luncheon partner and looking far from bored. The luncheon presents no nagging, no problems (unless father is highly injudicious) but, as the adage insists, "a little nonsense now and then, relished by the best of men."

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

ONLY A WAY STATION

Some players think of 3-No Trumps as a sign-off bid, under all circumstances, indicating to your partner that you believe the side should not try to bid any higher. In certain circumstances, the bid has that implication, in a tentative way, but not positively. If the partner has any appreciable values, in addition to those he has shown, he should, of course, reach out toward a slam. In such a case, the game bid is only a way station on the journey toward, and perhaps, to a slam .

West	North	East	South
1 ♦	Pass	2 NT	Pass
3 ♦	Pass	3 NT	Pass
4 ♣	Pass	5 ♣	Pass
6 ♣	Pass	6 NT

That was some of the best bidding done on this deal, in a 12-table duplicate tournament. Only four tables out of the dozen reached that best possible contract, however. Three East-West pairs played it in 6-Diamonds, and five, the largest number of all, were in only 3-No Trumps.

In each case, the 3-No Trump declarers got exactly the same bidding as that given above, for the first two rounds. Then, however, West passed, feeling that his partner was through bidding on the hand when he said 3-No Trumps. It may have been true that East was through, but West should not have been. His hand was a lot better than he had shown up to that time, with his mere opening bid, plus his rebid of the same suit. In fact, it figured to be worth something more than seven tricks at No Trumps, pretty close to eight, or about three tricks stronger than he had indicated.

There was naturally nothing to the play. Where a spade got led, away from the ace, 13 tricks were easy for the declarer. Where that was not the case, 12 tricks were taken.

GALION—Mrs. H. E. Peters of South Boston street, was admitted to City hospital, Tuesday night, for an operation. Mrs. John Rizor of Route 2, Galion, also underwent an operation at the hospital, Tuesday; and Mrs. Charles Ricker was admitted for surgery.

Dismissals from the hospital Tuesday were Mrs. Kenneth Johnson and baby boy; and Barbara Decker.

HOROSCOPE

For Thursday, July 31.

According to the auguries of dominant planetary forces it might be well to slow down on important business projects and seek relaxation and diversion in domestic, social, artistic or affectional engagements, since everyday affairs are under a discouraging rule, indicating antagonism or lack of support from superiors, employes or others whose good will and substantial co-operation are vital. As well, the public group or community endorsement may not be forthcoming, unless the activities take on welfare, charitable or cultural forms. Refrain from petty misunderstandings and be alert to treacherous snares or intrigues.

Those whose birthday it is may be wise in devoting themselves to the pursuit of pleasure, in domestic, social, artistic or cultural circles, since business is under vibrations of discord, opposition and lack of support. Public interests of a social or humanitarian character may thrive, but in all shun trivial quarrels and be on guard against intrigues, sordid entanglements or doubtful situations, where friendship or romance might suffer. Be discreet in all private relations.

A child born on this day should possess many social graces and talents rather than the equipment to succeed in business lines. It may encounter difficulties with employers or superiors while its personal relations will give happiness and good fortune.

KIWANIS CLUB HEARS SPEAKER

GALION—J. C. Gibson, president of the Pioneer Rubber company at Willard, and a director of the National Association of Manufacturers was guest speaker Tuesday noon at the Kiwanis club luncheon meeting at Hotel Talbott. His subject was "Defense."

William Freeman was chairman of the program., Music was furnished by the Nevel Trio now appearing at the hotel. Guests of the club were Nap T. Videon of Bellevue and Paul Daniels of Lake Worth, Fla.

GERMAN WRITER TELLS OF 'WAR WITHOUT WATER'

Nazi Troops Would Trade Prized Items Just For a Drink In Dry Russia.

(Editors Note: Hans Huffzky, a reporter in one of the German army's propaganda companies known as "PKS," has produced one of the most descriptive pieces concerning the soldier's plight and thought on the Russian battlefront that has come to the attention of American correspondents in Berlin. Like all German reporters, Huffzky, 28, was not sent to the front as a war correspondent, but was drafted as a soldier, assigned to a propaganda company and sent into battle with the rank of an officer. Occasionally engaged in action, several of these PK men have been killed.

By HANS HUFFZKY
German Journalist.
WITH THE GERMAN ARMY

ON THE EASTERN FRONT—This war is the driest of all wars.

That is because it leads past too few water mains, fewer than in Poland and fewer than in France.

Flap down your dust-coated eyelashes, comrade, and think back—think of France: Wasn't that then one vast water fountain compared with this country?

Yesterday we passed a village as we rolled along the marching route of our Panzers. For hours before we had located it on our map: Now it must still be 10 kilometers away, now only five, now just one more—there it was, the village, there was the first house and there, too, was the first bucket-well.

Down deep with the pail—up it came with mire and mud. On to the next well! It yielded only a brownish broth.

The wells already had been drawn dry by our comrades. So once again we cannot wash ourselves tonight. Wash? Why for heaven's sake, we haven't the faintest intention of washing, there isn't water for that. All we want is to just dip our hands once, just to cool our burned brows and necks a bit.

This morning we were to drive through the city of "M" (obviously Minsk). We figured it out: There must be so and so many hydrants for drinking, for cooking, for washing, for filling our field flasks.

When we reached "M" we didn't come to "M," for it is something that doesn't exist anymore and you can't come to it. "M" was nothing but a bit of smouldering landscape! The fleeing Soviet had with his artillery shot "M" into the ground and burned it down completely.

Back home in our German garrisons a field flask full of water isn't worth a straw. There it merely weighs down the belt from which so many other things are already hanging.

But a field flask with drinking water, tea or coffee today in the East is worth more than anything that can happen to you.

That comrade begs as though he wanted to borrow 100 marks from you. Or he offers you other luxuries in exchange, a whole frying pan full of butter, one dozen eggs, 100 cigarets—whatever he just happens to have.

The loveliest vehicles in this war are those from whose tops protrude little stovepipes—the field kitchens. Not on account of the pork roast which they offer you, and not on account of the pea soup, but solely on account of their tea. Whether the field kitchens are standing or moving they are always surrounded.

Yesterday for the first time in a long while I was privileged really to wash and shave myself. It was a veritable dissipation I indulged in with that water. Why, I had two whole drinking cups full of water for it!

The population of Halifax, Nova Scotia, has doubled since the war began.

Fuel Gas Company Launches 'Safety Month' This Week

"Safety Month," their annual adventure in precaution, will begin Friday for employes of the Ohio Fuel Gas company, W. C. Mead, district manager, announced today.

Each year since 1932 when the company became alarmed at the number of lost-time accidents, it has set aside one month during which employes pay particular attention to accident prevention. For the last three years they have won the National Safety Council's trophy for the safest gas company.

Since June 1936, Mead said, the Mansfield district has had no lost-time accident. This represents, he said, 1,600,000 man hours of work without a single accident.

During this time the company has operated 60 motor vehicles, Mead said.

For the coming month's safety campaign the company has provided daily calendars for the employes giving a different safety warning for each day.

The mechanism of Big Ben, giant clock in the tower of the Houses of Parliament, includes a 13½-foot pendulum, numerals two feet high, minute hands 14 feet long, and hour hands nine feet long.

CHAPTER XXI

There was a long pause as Doris considered Bonnie's suggestion. Marry Ricardo Torres? How many times she had tried to talk herself into that very thing.

"Your experience with Jimmy Allen should have taught you a lesson," Bonnie said practically. "Love is seldom what it's supposed to be. You're inviting trouble when you let it matter too much. Don't be a sap, Doris."

"I can't help it," Doris said bluntly.

"Sure you can. This Ricardo seems to love you, and he's willing to take a chance, so why shouldn't you? After all, what can you lose?"

"You sound so cold-blooded," Doris objected.

Bonnie twisted her diamond wedding ring thoughtfully. "Didn't you ever think that you might learn to love a man after you marry him?"

Doris smiled. Was Bonnie fonder of Don than she cared to admit?"

"What I mean," Donnie went on hastily, "is that gratitude is important. I'm grateful to Don for what he's done for me. I'm grateful because he's so kind and tender. Those are the things that make you love a man, Doris. Those are the things that matter."

"But you weren't in love with someone else," Doris reminded her. "How could I marry Ricardo, thinking about Jimmy all the time?"

"You'd forget him," Bonnie insisted.

"That's what Ricardo said."

"Well then?"

As Doris was silent, her friend went on, "You think you love Jimmy because he's tall and handsome and romantic. That's all there is to it."

"No!" Doris cried. "That's not true! I love him because—well because he's mine and he belongs to me. I can't explain it, but it's true." And she began to cry.

"I'm sorry," Bonnie said. "I should have kept my mouth shut. After all, I don't even know the man."

* * *

Doris knew that in spite of her words Bonnie remained unconvinced. What was the use of trying to tell her how she felt about Jimmy! No one would understand.

"What is love?" Bonnie demanded. "You yourself can't define it."

"But I know when it happens," Doris insisted. "Well, darling, I'd better go back to the boarding house. I'm not very good company, I'm afraid."

"You'll do no such thing. You're staying here for dinner. I'm not such a good cook but I can improve on Mrs. Ames' cooking with my eyes shut."

They laughed and Doris was relieved to know that she did not have to spend a dreary evening in her lonely room.

She helped Bonnie to prepare the vegetables and fix the salad, surprised at her friend's sudden domesticity.

"I bought a cookbook last month," Bonnie told her, "and I took it up to the lake on our honeymoon and practiced. It wasn't bad either. At least Don didn't complain."

Doris, setting the small table with Bonnie's gay pottery, looked up at her and smiled. "Don is a fine person, Bonnie, do you know that?"

Bonnie sat down on the kitchen stool and looked more serious than Doris had ever seen her. "I know it, Doris. I didn't appreciate Don for a long time—I thought love was out of the question as far as I was concerned. But now, well, sometimes I think I'm falling in love with him." There were tears in the round eyes. "After all I said about love not being important and everything, I suppose you'll think it sounds crazy."

Doris was touched at this confession. "I think it's wonderful!" she said warmly.

Bonnie wiped her eyes briskly. "Well, I do know this. Whatever I feel for Don is real. It's not an infatuation."

Doris knew that she was referring to Jimmy Allen.

* * *

Don arrived home at six-thirty. Doris was amused to note that Bonnie ran into the bedroom to apply fresh lipstick and take off her apron. And the way she looked when Don kissed her left little doubt in Doris's mind as to Bonnie's love for her husband.

Don was tall and rugged, and though he was not handsome his face was kind and his eyes twinkled with humor.

"It's swell to see you, Doris," he said. "How was the trip?"

Doris and Bonnie exchanged glances as Doris replied. "Oh, wonderful! I had a perfectly grand time!"

Doris felt a lump in her throat as the evening progressed. Their happiness was so real. Why couldn't she and Jimmy have had this? The way they looked at each other; their eagerness to please; Don's gentleness and affection; Bonnie's pride in him—all these made Doris feel strangely alone. Bonnie acted as though she were almost afraid to let herself love Don; as if it were too good to be true. Doris knew how she must feel.

"And she thinks she doesn't believe in love," Doris thought as she watched Bonnie's anxious glances for Don's approval.

"We'll have to round up a man for Doris," Bonnie said as they lingered over their coffee.

"That shouldn't be hard," Don said pleasantly, surveying Doris with approval.

Though her expression was sad at times, she had gained a new beauty, a new maturity. There was a wistful look in her blue eyes and a tender expression about her mouth. Doris had always been a pretty girl, but love had brought her very close to beauty.

"We'll get together some Saturday," Bonnie said cheerfully, watching Doris for a favorable reaction.

But Doris could not imagine going out with another man and enjoying it. She had no desire to even meet any men. She would rather live in her dreams.

As the girls washed the dishes Bonnie whispered, "I want to talk to Don about your father. Maybe he'll have some ideas. Don't go to the police for a couple of days yet. Maybe we can figure out some other way."

Doris hesitated. "I suppose I could wait a few days."

Bonnie wrung out her dishcloth with vehemence. "You bet you could. Every time I think about it, it makes me sick! Why would your father have to come back now? Everything happens to you, Doris! It doesn't seem right."

"Don't feel sorry for me. I get myself into most of my own trouble."

"Not your father. He certainly wasn't your fault."

As they stacked the dishes in neat piles, Doris said, "What worries me most is the fact that he said he'd see me again. I'm afraid he has some new idea about Jimmy."

"But what could he do now?" Bonnie asked reasonably.

"I don't know," Doris admitted. "But it worries me."

BUYING URGE DAMPENED ON STOCK TRADE

Market Shows Hesitation After Week of Rising Price Trends.

NEW YORK—Stocks were in a hesitant mood today although the market was able to achieve a number of minor plus signs in rail and rubber groups and specialties.

After a comparatively sluggish start the ticker held to a slow pace and prices were considerably mixed near the second hour.

In general, behavior of the list suggested some dampening of the buying urge pending clarification of the government's purpose with regard to price control legislation and taxation.

Analysts were given a better line on the realities of the tax situation by the United States Steel corporation statement for the June quarter released after yesterday's close. It showed net income of $24,814,751 or $2.12 a common share against $36,559,995 or $3.47 a share for the first quarter. The sharp drop in profits in the face of record finished steel shipments and capacity operations was largely explained by a $32,800,000 provision for federal income and excess profits taxes compared with $11,800,000 for the previous three months.

Three Veteran Actors Answer Final Curtain

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Three actors, two of them veterans of the American stage and the third an Englishman on the eve of his most important role, took their final curtain calls yesterday.

Eddie Leonard, 70, black face comedian, was found dead in a New York hotel.

Charlie Murray, 69, vaudeville and screen actor, succumbed here to pneumonia.

James Stephenson, 52, English screen player, died of a heart attack at nearby Santa Monica.

Leonard's body was found in the Hotel Imperial in New York, where he had lived at the height of his fame during his half century on the vaudeville stage. "Ida, Sweet as Apple Cider," was his best remembered song along with "Just Because She Made Those Goo-goo Eyes."

His death was believed due to natural causes.

Murray was famous for a score of years prior to 1912 as the vaudeville partner of the late Ollie Mack. He switched to the screen with the old Biograph company, and for the next 35 years appeared in hundreds of pictures.

Stephenson, who abandoned a successful career as a cotton broker at the age of 35 to enter pictures, was scheduled to start work this week on an important role in "King's Row," after having successfully portrayed the lawyer in "The Letter" with Bette Davis.

Liverine Has Given More Relief Than Anything Else I Have Ever Tried, Says Tiffin Man
Declares he suffered for years from a serious case of Constipation due to an inactive liver.
"I will be 70 years old on my next birthday and speaking from experience, I believe Liverine is a fine medicine for elderly people who are suffering with biliousness and other ailments due to an inactive liver, says Mr. George Durrner, of 25 Morcher Avenue, Tiffin, Ohio.

I was constipated and I took all kinds of tablets and liquids for my bowels. My liver bile didn't seem to be flowing freely and I felt drowsy and sluggish and often, if I sat down, I would fall asleep. My head would spin with dizziness. My energy was low and I would have a half-sick, "don't care" feeling. I had a bad taste in my mouth and on account of the condition of my liver and bowels, impurities would seem to spread all through my system.
I took Liverine, which made my bile flow more freely and relieved all my above troubles. I am also getting fine relief from pains and stiffness in shoulder. I have also started to take 'Bee Dee's. I have to arise only once at night. I shall continue to take Liverine and Bee Dee's. I have great faith in these medicines.

Braves Split Even With Fostoria, Keep Second Place

Sport Podge by Rex Hess

Recommended for your support tonight is the doubleheader under the lights at the Fairground staged by the Mansfield Provident girls' softball state champions.

The girls brought no little credit to Mansfield last summer by winning the state title, and now that they're attempting to raise funds, with an outstanding softball attraction, to send them to this year's tournament at Youngstown, they are deserving of the support of softball fans and the city in general.

Whether or not you're a softball fan, you should find plenty of entertainment value in this bargain bill, as the Providents meet two of the best girls' teams in the state, the Akron Merchants in the first game, and Massillon in the second tilt.

I saw the girls play two games early in the season, and was am zed at the deftness and precision with which they fielded hard-hit ground balls and liners in the short softball infield, and snagged towering flies in the outfield.

They were amazed when I snagged a foul ball on the players' bench—and so was I. It was an amazing day all around.

* * *

Yes, I hope the gals make a lot of money tonight, so they can go to the Youngstown tournament in the style befitting champions.

Anything less wouldn't speak well for Mansfield's sportsmanship or civic pride.

Mansfield fans have seen their last this season of Chuck Gerlach, popular slugging outfielder of the Tiffin Mud Hens.

Chuck donned one of Uncle Sam's uniforms yesterday after being honored with a "Chuck Gerlach Night" at the Tiffin ball park Monday.

We join the Hens in wishing Chuck,
In army khaki, lots of luck.

At that famous "kick out the umpires or the president" meeting of the Ohio State league at Fremont last week, one Tiffin stockholder is reported to have told the assembled moguls:

"Why blame it on the umpires or the president? Fremont isn't kicking. Fremont is leading the league and making money. Last year Lima didn't kick. It was leading the league and making money. If we spend some of our energy improving our teams and winning games, we won't have anything to kick about either!"

Soose Faces 'Jinx' Pug

Abrams Holds Decisions Over Middle King.

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—The tangle at Madison Square Garden tonight never will be listed among Creasy's "decisive battles of the world," but it is going to be an interesting demonstration of whether a man can defeat the dark doubts that swarm in his own mind.

A shorter way of saying it would be that Billy Soose, middleweight champion of the world, is going to find out whether he can lick a jinx.

Soose is an intelligent, speedy boy He is a classy boxer and he can throw a knockout punch with his right. He seems to have everything a man needs to lift him above the mob and make him a true champion.

But this evening, for 30 minutes or less, the jinx of his career will stand squarely across his trail. He is fighting Georgie Abrams, a man who defeated him twice before Soose fought his way to recognition by New York state as middleweight title holder. There doesn't seem to be doubt in any one's mind that Soose is the better fighter. And it isn't just sentiment, either, because the betting commissioners, who have all the warm sympathy and sentimentality of a berg in the Antarctic, have made him a 7 to 5 favorite.

Indians of pure blood still form a large share of the population in South America.

Redskins Bombard Senators

Feller Tries For 20th Against Tail-End Club.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—After two 4 to 3 defeats in New York and Boston Bob Feller makes another try for his 20th victory tonight against the hapless Senators.

If the Indians remain in their hitting mood of yesterday Bob should snatch the coveted triumph without too much trouble. His mound opponent will be Bill Zuber, the lanky right-hander released by Cleveland early in the season.

The long-silent bats of the Redskins boomed for 12 hits to bring Al Smith a 5 to 1 decision in the opener of the Washington series.

Gerry Walker and Ken Keltner led the surprisingly stout attack with four and three blows, respectively. Smith scattered nine Washington hits effectively in notching his seventh victory of the year.

A walk, Walker's double and singles by Keltner and Oscar Grimes gave the Indians two runs in the first inning. In the third hits by Walker and Keltner and a walk loaded the bases and Ray Mack lined a single to right center. Rollie Hemsley plated the final marker with a drive to right field.

It's a fight to the finish between the St. Louis Cardinals and Brooklyn Dodgers this week, but they came out of their first meeting with nothing except unfinished business.

With practically the entire country, except possibly St. Louis, agog over their crucial clash for control of the National league pennant race, they fought 12 innings to a 7-7 draw yesterday.

The Dodgers rolled away to a 6-1 lead with Jim Wasdell hitting a two-run homer in the first inning and Dolph Camilli following with his 17th and 18th circuit clouts of the season on successive turns at bat in the fourth and sixth.

In the sixth the Cards took it all back with a six-run inning. Kirby Higbe, who had been wild but lucky, gave three walks and forced in a run. Curt Davis came in and Terry Moore singled for two runs, Johnny Hopp tripled for another, then scored on a wild throw by Durocher, and Mize sent the Redbirds ahead with a homer.

In the ninth, Joe Medwick, a former Cardinal, made his only hit to single home the tying run for Brooklyn. After three more innings darkness finally forced them to quit. The game was rescheduled immediately for Thursday, previously an open date.

The Pittsburgh Pirates scored four runs in the second inning and coasted to a 5-3 victory over the Boston Braves before rain halted play in the eighth.

The Giants ripped off four runs against Cincinnati's Elmer Riddle in the first three innings and then the Reds fired back with two in the fourth and five in the fifth to win 7-4 while Gene Thompson held New York scoreless the rest of the way.

In the other skirmish the Chicago Cubs, on a spree that has netted them 10 of their past 12 games, crushed the Phillies, 12-4.

The New York Yankees gave away a 6-3 decision to the Detroit Tigers and the Cleveland Indians advanced to 10½ games from the lead.

* * *

The St. Louis Browns beat the Boston Red Sox, 3-2, behind the six-hit hurling of John Niggeling. The Chicago White Sox interrupted the Philadelphia Athletics' parade with a 1-0 triumph.

NELSON TAKES HONORS IN MUZZLE-LOADER SHOOT

Scores announced today for the Mansfield Muzzle-Loader Rifle club shoot held last Saturday showed T. Nelson taking top honors with a percentage of .554 in six matches. T. Kelser gained second place with .522 in seven matches.

D. Utz won the 50-yard string measure match centering three shots in 1.45 inches.

Champion Providents Play Two Under Lights

Mansfield's state champion Provident Loan girls' softball team will make their first home night-game appearance of the season tonight under the Fairground lights when they stage a doubleheader with two of the state's fastest feminine teams, meeting the Akron Merchants at 7:30 and Massillon in the nightcap. The Mansfield girls are attempting to raise funds in this double-header to send them to the state tournament at Youngstown. Several changes have been made in their lineup since the above picture was taken early in the season. Shown left to right, they are: first row, LaVonna Schaefer, Arlene Peters, Ruth Whiteman, Evelyn Jocha, Mary Holda and Bunny Shelton; back row, Jean Herrick, Margaret Tippul, Fran Knapp, Florence Biddinger, Florence Casper, Donna Schuster and Mary Bessmer.

Marietta Needs Freshmen Gridders

MARIETTA, O.—(AP)— Marietta college's football co-captains and three other lettermen are in the army, and the word is out that the school either must gain permission to use freshmen on the varsity team or cancel its 1941 grid schedule.

* * *

"It doesn't take a gypsy dream book to foresee the necessity of playing freshmen during the national emergency," said assistant Coach Don Drumm today.

"In smaller colleges like Marietta, freshmen must be permitted to play in varsity sports if schedules are to be maintained."

Head Coach Frank L. (Duke) Hayes, now vacationing in Canada, tried at the spring meeting of Ohio conference coaches to drum up support for using freshmen in varsity sports, but it was no go.

Long Bars Stretch Lead In News-Journal A-League

Long Bar golfers stretched their lead in the News-Journal A league at Possum Run last evening with a 5 to 0 shutout over Greystone Nite Club, but Richland Printing also came through with a 5 to 0 calcimine job over Cairns Hardware to move up into second place, five points behind the pace setters.

Three to two was the rule in the other league matches, with Barnes & Schmid winning over Sloan's Drugs, and Andregg Billiards taking the edge over Yuncker Sports.

Four extra-hole tilts were needed to decide the last two matches, but they evened up as the opposing teams each captured one of the overtime arguments.

Al Hager had to go two extra holes to beat Bud Houston, B league secretary who filled in for the third time as an A-loop swinger. This win for Andregg's was offset when Joiner defeated Strome in one extra hole.

Frantz won from Scott in one extra hole, and this one was evened up when Bogner defeated Schlegel, also in one extra hole.

* * *

Joe Mayer shot a three-under-par 33 for league medal honors, and Gene Zediker was right behind him with a 34. Vin Tipul also broke par with a 35, while right on the par mark of 36 was Nick Linster.

Joe's Getting Tired Of 'Just Resting'

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis quietly served a warning to Lou Nova today with the simple statement: "I'm tired of restin'."

* * *

Vacationing a month since stopping Billy Conn, the Detroit Bomber will make his next title defense against the Californian this summer.

* * *

Between mashie shots on the Highland Park golf course, Joe admitted "sure feel kind of itchy to put on 'em gloves again."

The champion is here polishing up his game for the Ohio Negro tournament that opens over the Highland layout Friday.

Steal Opener on Four Hits; Toss Next Away

Two Hurling Duels See Coleman Win 2 to 1, Kuzava Lose 3 to 2

MANSFIELD BRAVES today were two full games behind the Ohio State league pacing Fremont Green Sox, but retained their second-place lead over the Fostoria Red Birds by a game and a half after splitting last night's twin bill at the Fairground with the Birds.

The Braves committed a bit of legitimate larceny in stealing the opener 2 to 1 on only four hits while the Birds were collecting nine bingles, then evened it up by handing the visitors a 3-2 victory in the nightcap, with the Birds scoring only one earned run off Lefty Bob Kuzava.

Husky Jim Coleman and Skipper Chuck Cronin tangled in a real hurling duel in the opener with Cronin having all the best of it except in the matter of runs. Coleman was first in line at the pay-off station, and he wasn't to be nudged out.

Jim had to pitch to win this game. He left 13 Birds stranded on the paths, gave up at least one hit in each inning but the eighth, and permitted two in the seventh, but he was hard to get along with when runs really threatened.

His best job of gate closing came in the fifth when Joe Cannon led off with a double, Pruett strolled, and Stevens moved them along with a sacrifice.

With men on second and third and one out, Coleman issued an intentional pass to Frey, filling the sacks, and the strategy worked. Harry Siegbert took Streng's roller and tossed out Cannon at the plate, and Bobby TeStruth snared Kousagen's hopper to force Frey at second for the third out.

Meanwhile Cronin was rolling along toward a no-hit game. He pitched to just three batters in each of the first three frames, gave up a walk in the fourth and two more walks in the fifth, and it was evident that the sore-arm Bird pilot was weakening.

The Braves bunched three hits for two runs in the sixth, and that was the ball game. Bobby TeStruth led off with a single and when Morse laid down a bunt both were safe as Cronin threw too late to second to get TeStruth.

Mangan smashed a line-drive single to right center scoring TeStruth Mutry and Siegbert went out, but Bill Salem crashed through with a single to score Morse.

The second game, booked for seven innings, went one extra heat when Fostoria scored an unearned run in the sixth to tie the score at 2-2. In the eighth another unearned marker gave the visitors a 3 to 2 victory.

* * *

Mansfield tallied twice in the second. TeStruth doubled with one gone, Morse followed with a single, scoring TeStruth, and going to send on the throw to the plate. And Mangan clouted a double, plating Morse.

Fostoria got its one earned tally in the fourth as Buckamier led off with a double and scored on Stevens' single. Ankrum's error on Stevens' roller in the sixth permitted Cannon to score from second.

In the eighth Pruett walked, and scored all the way from first when Stevens' single got through Salem in center field.

Mansfield had men on third in the seventh and eighth innings but couldn't push the needed run over.

Johnny Drish has been voted the University of Illinois outstanding athlete of the year. He captained the basketball team and pitched for the diamond squad.

The Low Down on Borrowing

Butter is up. Steak is dear. Coal is getting scarce, we hear. But money is plentiful and there's no increase in its cost either. In fact, you can get a loan of $100 today and repay it in regular monthly payments for one year at an average daily cost of less than 4 cents.

So here's a timely tip . . . Arrange a convenient budget loan now. Take the money, square up bills and debts and have just one place to pay. Then, fill up the coal bin, stock up the larder and replenish your wardrobe. Get the benefit of cash buying now and repay your loan later, a little at a time. A really good idea!

FUN AND PROFIT TOO
Our loan No. 118436 is a "traveling restaurateur" who paid the balance due on his car, bought material to build a traveling lunch stand and was off to the fairs selling hamburgers and soft drinks, all with the help of a small loan. Cochrane Upsets Champ

Takes Crown From Zivic In 15 Round Battle.

By JACK CUDDY

NEWARK, N. J.—(U.P.)—The berserk fight game has spawned another genuine "Cinderella man" in Freddie Cochrane, the red-headed, pudden-faced Irishman who wrested the world welterweight championship last night from supposedly invincible Fritzie Zivic.

* * *

You could feel the upset coming in the very first session of that 15-round pier six brawl before some 10,000 fans at Ruppert's stadium.

And it was an upset—when the announcer confirmed that Cochrane had won the 15-round decision—probably the greatest boxing upset since that other Jersey Irishman, Jim Braddock, took the heavyweight crown from Maxie Baer six years ago.

You could feel the upset coming in that first round because Red Cochrane of Elizabeth, N. J., came out of his corner and fought just like his fellow-townsman, Mickey Walker, fought in the days when the great Mickey wore the welterweight diadem and later sported the middleweight crown.

Before the opening gong sounded, Cochrane sat there in his corner with the white towel wrapped about his red neck with a poker-faced expression that most persons interpreted as resignation to the fact that he was an 8-1 underdog.

* * *

But after one minute of fighting, everyone realized they were watching a rough, tough young man—perfectly conditioned and out to win.

In that very first minute of this thrilling, slam-bang battle, underdog Cochrane revealed that he and his shrewd handlers had mapped out a double-barrelled combination that might beat the champion. The combination was this:

1. Every time Zivic resorted to his illegal specialty of getting a left-armed hammer-lock on Cochrane's neck and tried to pull Cochrane into right-handed punches, Mr. Cochrane—smaller and lighter than the champion—simply reared up and nutted Zivic right in the face.

2. Cochrane kept throwing left hooks into Zivic's ultra-tender belly every time Zivic tried to get set to launch his smashing straight right to the head.

That was the story of Cochrane's triumph: butt him in the puss at close quarters and slam in the belly at a distance.

* * *

Referee Mangold gave Cochrane seven rounds, scored four for Zivic and four even. These figures did not agree with the sheets of most New York boxing writers. The United Press, for example, tabulated the fight even, giving champion and challenger six rounds each and registering three rounds as draws. But even the most ardent Zivic admirer had to admit, after the final bell, that Cochrane deserved the decision because he had forced the fighting, won his rounds more impressively and had fought a smarter fight than the champion.

Welterweight Crown Changes Hands

DYKES TO STICK WITH WHITE SOX

PHILADELPHIA—(U.P.)—Jimmy Dykes, manager of the White Sox, made it plain today that he intends to continue managing the Chicago club next year.

Questioned about rumors that he would manage the Detroit Tigers at a $35,000 salary the ablespoken Dykes said.

"I have not signed my 1942 contract with the White Sox so far, but that is merely a formality. But I am not going to manage the Tigers, and I am not going to manage the Cleveland Indians. I am going to manage the White Sox."

SPORTS GOSSIP

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK — (The Special News Service) — Red Cochrane proved to Fritzie Zivic that a fighter and a race-hoss are "cousins"—the old all work and no play gag. . . . Fritzie looked as stale as last week's rye bread, and no wonder. . . . He's been in training so long he gets his mail at the gym. . . . What's the fight game coming to when a guy like Cochrane, who's been licked more times than you have fingers—five times by one man alone—comes along and wins the welterweight title!

LAST-MINUTE SPECIAL.

Chances are better than 50-50 the Louis-Nova shindig will wind up in Chicago. . . . Only dates at Yankee stadium are Sept. 22 and 23, which are too close to the Jewish holidays for Mike Jacobs to risk a postponement. . . . Besides, Chi hotels have guaranteed Uncle Mike they'll kick in for $200,000 worth of tickets.

ONE-MINUTE INTERVIEW.

Ellsworth Vines: "Bill Tilden gave me the hardest match of my entire career, when we played for the American pro title at Los Angeles in '34. The match lasted three hours and 45 minutes and went five sets before I finally wore him down. Bill won the fourth set at 23-21 and it was the most terrific I ever engaged in. It also was the one that cost him the match."

(And don't forget, Big Bill was more than 40 then, Elly.)

When it comes to naming the year's gamest guy, don't forget your old pal Oom Paul Derringer, who shoulda been in a hospital weeks ago. . . . Whisper out of Detroit says Ray Robinson is about ready to toss over Curt Horrmann, who built him up to a lightweight contender shot, and will go in the Louis stable under John Roxborough and Julian Black. . . . Say it ain't so, pals.

HEADLINE:

"Durocher Returns to Short to End Dodger Slump."

The Dodger boss is Lippy Durocher.

At shortstop he is strictly kosher.

Peewee Reese is a whole lot younger,

But he gets rattled and plays from hunger.

Leo the Lip may be an old codger.

But he's steadier for the Dodgers, Roger.

OHIO RIFLEMEN DEFEAT MICHIGAN

L. A. Arntz, coach of the Ohio rifle team that competed against Michigan last Friday, today received a delayed report on the result which showed the teams tied with a 48.93 score, but Ohio outranking Michigan with 189 x'es to 183.

The delay, Arntz said, was caused by protests which needed official rulings. John Hunter of Mansfield was a shooting member of the Ohio team.

COBB'S SHORT GAME DEFEATS BABE RUTH

DETROIT—(U.P.)—Babe Ruth can drive a golf ball farther but Ty Cobb takes fewer strokes to run it down into the hole.

* * *

They puffed and perspired for four hours at Grosse Ile country club's rolling course yesterday before Cobb got a 3 and 2 victory in the third and deciding match of their series.

* * *

Cobb won the first match of the series at Boston, June 25. But Ruth won in 19 holes at New York two days later.

Billy Evans In New Role

Returns To Cleveland as Football Manager.

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Dynamic Billy Evans, for 35 years one of the country's best-known baseball figures, has turned to football at an age when most men are ready to retire.

His money well-invested in annuities, Billy could sit back and watch the sports parade go by. Instead, though he's getting grey and crowding 58, he has rolled up his sleeves for the tough task of "selling" a losing professional team.

The four-year-old Cleveland Rams, after dropping $125,000 in the generally-prosperous National Professional Football league, were purchased this summer by a syndicate headed by Fred Levy, jr., of Louisville, Ky., and Dan Reeves of New York. The new owners immediately sought a high-powered general manager. Evans was their man.

* * *

Thus the amiable executive returns to a city where he served seven years as general manager of the Cleveland Indians.

* * *

No sooner was Evans entrenched in his new job than the Rams began circulating by personal letters their new slogan:

"The public be pleased."

Next Evans ordered that the gridiron at the 80,000-seat municipal stadium, home of the Rams, be shifted to give the customers a better view. During the process some 40,000 seats virtually were eliminated, but the other 40,000 now are practically on the sidelines.

"That slogan of ours tells the story," Billy said today. "My job is to tell the people about the kind of football they can see, and make it convenient and agreeable for them to come to the games."

Watch Him Go This Fall

FRANK LEAHY

Head football coach and athletic director at Notre Dame, Frank Leahy is pictured at his Waban, Mass., home with his two children, Sue, 3, and Frank, jr., 5. Leahy plans to conduct a coaching school this summer and come next fall he'll be directing the Notre Dame football team. Leahy is the former head coach at Boston college.

CALLS MODERN JOCKEYS TOO DAREDEVILISH

LEXINGTON, Ky.—(AP)—Jimmy Winkfield, the Negro jockey who rode Kentucky Derby winners in 1901 and 1902 and finished second in 1903, says modern jockeys start too young and take too many chances.

* * *

"They go out there riding with their heads down and don't watch where they're going," he says.

"In the old days, jockeys hung around stables for years before they were permitted to ride and they absorbed a lot of information modern youngsters don't possess.

"The biggest difference I see in today's riders and those of my time," he explains, "lies in riding ability, particularly in ability to judge pace. The old riders were great judges of pace and were willing to wait for openings instead of trying to ride over the field."

OLD PETE IMPROVES

NEW YORK — (INS) — Grover Cleveland Alexander's condition was reported as improving today at Bellevue hospital, but the former star pitcher of the National league can not be described as out of danger, hospital attaches said. Alexander is suffering head injuries sustained when he fell in a downtown street last week-end.

KOSTYO ENTERS ARMY

ELYRIA — (AP) — John Kostyo, whose exploits on the gridiron for Wittenberg college won him a backfield berth on the Associated Press 1940 all-Ohio football team, will be inducted into the army Friday.

Tami Grows Up

TAMI MAURIELLO

NEW YORK—(AP)—If he keeps growing as he has in recent months Tami Mauriello may soon add his name to the list of heavyweight boxing contenders.

Tami is a burly lad from New York's Fordham section, up in the Bronx. He picked up boxing pointers slugging it out with neighborhood rivals.

He made a good impression as a middleweight in the east until he bumped into Billy Soose. Soose, seeking to convince New Yorkers that he was of championship calibre, managed to stay away from Tami's punches and gave the Bronx buster a boxing lesson.

That setback didn't bother Tami. He was in the gymnasium the next day readying himself for other foes. And a short while later he wrangled a match with Steve Belloise, a ranking contender. Steve had twice had title shots at Ken Overlin, then champion. But Tami knocked Steve out in the first round.

Mauriello took another step along the road the other night by scoring a nine-round technical knockout over Steve Mamakos of Washington.

Tami says he soon expects to start challenging light heavyweights and hopes to tackle the heavyweights within a year or so.

RIGGS AND KOVACS RULE AS FAVORITES

SOUTHHAMPTON, N. Y.—(U.P.)—Bobby Riggs of Clinton, S. C., and Frank Kovacs of Oakland, Calif., were co-favorites to win the annual Meadow club's invitational grass tennis tournament today as third round play began.

Riggs, seeded first, entered the third round yesterday when he defeated William Vogt, 17-year-old Philadelphian, 6-4, 6-3 while Kovacs trimmed another 17-year-old, Earl Cochell of Los Angeles, 7-5, 6-4.

PRAIRIE DOG HOLE ENDS ONE PITCH, ONE HIT TILT

CLARENDON, Tex.—(AP)—Old-time baseball player Clyde Atteberry was telling about the game that was won with a single batted ball.

"The first man who came up to the plate in the game between Giles and Clarendon in 1904 smacked the ball out into a mesquite flat," Atteberry said.

"It rolled down a prairie dog hole.

"The umpire yelled 'play ball' but we couldn't play. It was the only baseball in 40 miles.

"Giles won by a home run."

Qualifications for the guard posts at the plant are: Each man must be at least 5 feet, 10 inches in height; weigh 150 pounds, and be under 35. They must also have records which will pass the scrutiny of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

GLAD TIDINGS

BOSTON—(AP)—Here's an item that made Tom Yawkey, owner of the Boston Red Sox, happy; Lefty Lefebvre, one of the Yawkey farm hands, turned in a 1-0 eleven-inning triumph for Louisville over Indianapolis the other day. The hurler is a former Holy Cross star. One of the things Yawkey needs most for his Red Sox is pitching—and Lefebvre appears about ripe for the majors.
